

Violence Against U.S. Hits Laos; Vietnam Quiet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Laotian students protesting against rising prices and foreign economic domination hurled rocks at the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane today and tried to haul down the American flag.

A U.S. Marine guard snatched the flag from two students before it hit the ground and pro-Communist Pathet Lao and government police drove students back from the compound. No injuries were reported.

Meanwhile, Saigon radio reports said long distance buses and trains are beginning services in South Vietnam where for years flying was the only safe way to travel. Cambodia reported that it had begun a campaign to clean up "the stink and pungent smells left behind by the traitors," and to open its chief seaport, Kompong Som.

Associated Press correspondent

Peter O'Loughlin reported from Vientiane that the demonstration by more than 3,000 students and teachers began at the baroque Victory Monument a few blocks from the U.S. Embassy.

Students carrying placards saying "Yankee Go Home!" and "Cut the Throats of the Rightists!" paraded around the monument chanting "CIA Go Home." On their way to a rally at the national stadium the crowd detoured to pass the U.S. Embassy compound.

The crowd became more excited, rocks were thrown and an attempt was made to lower the flag.

However, the Pathet Lao police and a student leader sitting on top of the fence shouted for the demonstrators to move on and they obeyed, averting a potentially dangerous situation.

When the crowd had dispersed, a U.S. Marine hoisted a new flag to the top of the staff.

In another development, a Japanese report from Thailand said Soviet and East German diplomats were enraged with the Khmer Rouge who took over Phnom Penh three weeks ago.

The newspaper Yomiuri quoted a Japanese who came out Thursday in the second convoy of foreigners as saying that Khmer Rouge troops ordered 29 foreigners at the Soviet and East German embassies to move to the French embassy, and that four Soviet diplomats arrived there with slight injuries apparently sustained while resisting the Khmer Rouge.

A French doctor who served in Phnom Penh told a French television reporter that former Cambodian Premiers Sirik Matak and Long Boret were executed by a firing squad at the Sports Club opposite the Hotel Phnom. He also said Khmer Rouge forces slit the throats of 300 persons and raped French women.

The new regime in Saigon announced in a broadcast today that banknotes of the old government are legal tender but all other currencies, checks and gold are not, and it said an exchange center had been set up to replace closed banks.

The broadcast added that the new government had taken over the management of all foreign banks in the country.

South Vietnam's Liberation Radio, monitored in Bangkok, said buses are running between Hanoi and Saigon for the first time since the war began and demand is so great that the North Vietnamese transportation department is putting on more.

The first locomotive to pull out of Bien Hoa, 20 miles northeast of Saigon, on a commuter run to the capital was plastered with posters of Ho Chi Minh and carried 200 passengers, the radio said. Bien Hoa was heavily shelled in the last days of the war.

The Saigon military committee held a special meeting to lay down regulations for 718 buses running the 1,000-mile coastal route that was regularly chopped up by the Viet Cong before the war ended 10 days ago.

Ships plying the coastal route between Hanoi and Saigon now make the voyage in two days less than in wartime, the broadcast said.

Meanwhile, the Youth and Students Federation of Saigon appealed for more volunteers to provide security for the city, take part in revolutionary cultural programs and clean up the streets, a broadcast reported.

"The federation will not tolerate any henchman stands against its plans," the radio said.

The new authorities also organized an exhibition about Czechoslovakia in honor of the East European country's national day, Saigon radio reported, and it disclosed that East Germany's ambassador to Hanoi presented "material aid" to the new South Vietnamese regime in a ceremony Wednesday.

A Phnom Penh radio broadcast monitored in Bangkok said the armed forces and civilians were working enthusiastically to rebuild destroyed factories, plant crops and clean up the wreckage of war.

"We have started to build dikes and are getting the crops ready for this rainy season," the broadcast reported. It also said that ships were being repaired and that Kompong Som — known as Sihanoukville before the war — would be opened to traffic in the "near future."

Associated Press correspondent George Esper, who stayed in Saigon after the Viet Cong takeover April 30, reported Thursday how he saw history being made.

"I saw America's symbols torn down and shattered ... the United States Embassy looted not by the North Vietnamese but by the southerners ... an American flag lying in a gutter," he wrote.

"There were unbelievable, grotesque sights that I can see clearly days later: the U.S. military headquarters at Tan Son Nhut air base, later to become the defense attaché's office, the nerve center of U.S. military might, the 'Pentagon East' where so many generals had planned so many military operations. It now lay crumpled, gutted by flames, twisted like a toy house."

Fuel Adjustment Clause Necessary, Committee Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legislative committee was told Thursday that the controversial fuel adjustment clause is necessary for the survival of the state's electrical utilities.

Bruce Mansfield, retired chairman of the Ohio Edison Co., said without the adjustment clause, the utilities would not be able to recoup their own losses from higher fuel costs.

And a vice president of Standard and Poor's Corp., which serves much as a credit bureau for corporations, said lack of the fuel adjustment clause would be a blow to the utilities' credit rating because of the "potentially rapid deterioration which could occur."

The clause provides for a pass-through increase to customers for higher fuel costs.

"Most states, in view of the cost and shortage of talent in the regulatory arena, have used the automatic cost of fuel adjustment clause as a necessary evil," said H. Russell Fraser, vice president in charge of corporate finance for Standard and Poor's.

"Management and regulators both agree this method leaves a lot to be desired, but to date it remains the most efficient system devised by man..."

"I would have to say a fuel cost adjustment clause with as little lag time as possible is a necessity unless some other more desirable quick and efficient method could be created," he said.

Mansfield told the committee that the clauses "are legal, proper and further they, or an equally effective substitute, are absolutely necessary for our continued survival."

Mansfield, testifying on behalf of the state's seven major electric utilities, told the committee that skyrocketing utility rates correspond directly to what utilities must pay for their fuel.

"The cost of fuel to most of the Ohio electric utilities represents well over 50 per cent of total operating expenses," Mansfield said.

He said in 1974, the state's seven major electrical utilities spent $875 million on fuel, amounting to 46 per cent of revenues. He said fuel cost 20 per cent of revenues in 1950.

He said even with the fuel adjustment clause, the utilities incurred $62 million in fuel costs that weren't reimbursed due to the time lag between the fuel cost hike and the fuel adjustment hike. But he admitted that $62 million likely will show up in the firms' next rate hike requests.

In response to questioning, Mansfield said utilities are aware their rates are becoming too high for the average citizen to afford.

"The things you're talking about are the things that have been keeping utility chief executives awake nights the last couple of years," he said. "The problems you have mentioned are real ones, and they have the companies worried sick."

Both men testified before the General Assembly's Select Joint Committee on Energy. The committee is investigating the availability and price of energy.

Indochinese Military Men In Training Pose Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 530 Cambodian and South Vietnamese military men continue to receive training at U.S. bases and service schools even though their armies, navies and air forces are no more.

"For the moment, it's the least disruptive action we can take," a Pentagon spokesman said, noting that the Indochinese are integrated into training with military students from the United States and other nations.

A few of the 300 Cambodian and 230 South Vietnamese officers and enlisted men have indicated a wish to return to their homelands, officials said. But the U.S. government has not yet decided how this problem will be handled.

"We're not going to keep anybody here against his will," one official said. "Current plans call for them to remain where they are presently located until their future status can be determined," the Pentagon spokesman said.

A small number have dependents with them, the Pentagon said.

Their cases are currently under study by the Defense Department and an interagency task force considering the problems of resettling South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees.

Officials said it is conceivable that some of the Indochinese military students might want to join the U.S. armed services.

Current law specifies that "in time of peace, no person may be accepted for original enlistment in the Army (or Air Force) unless he is a citizen of the United States or has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence."

There is no such legal bar to enlistment of aliens such as the South Vietnamese and Cambodians in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps, but there are limiting regulations.

The Pentagon said the 530 Cambodian and South Vietnamese military men currently are at about 50 installations around the United States.

No full list was available, but some of these include the Army's Ft. Benning, Ga., an infantry center; Ft. Sill, Okla., an Army artillery training post; Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.; the Naval amphibious base, Coronado, Calif.; and the International Officer Training School run by the Navy at Newport, R.I.

Auto Price Increases Coming

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. says it will raise car prices around 3 to 6 per cent this fall, making it the last of the Big Three auto makers to announce price increases and the first to indicate how big the hikes may be.

General Motors and Chrysler said last week that price increases are unavoidable because of continued cost increases. Neither, however, would indicate the size of the price boosts.

American Motors has not said it will raise prices, but the company is expected to follow the pricing trend of its larger competitors.

Meanwhile, GM confirmed Thursday that its Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) fund has run dry, cutting in half jobless pay for 55,000 laidoff production workers.

GM said the last batch of SUB checks went out in the mail this week. The auto giant said it did not know when it would be able to resume payments, which were exhausted by extensive, long-term layoffs.

Ford President Lee Iacocca estimated during a news conference Thursday that the firm's car prices would rise roughly from 3 to 6 per cent, or an average $150 to $300 per car.

"Three to five, six per cent — that's the ballpark we hope to play in," Iacocca said. "But we may be off $200."

"We can't operate without a price increase," Ford Chairman Henry Ford II said Thursday following the company's annual shareholders' meeting in suburban Dearborn. He said final pricing decisions have not yet been made.

Ford said he hoped the price increases would not discourage sales. He conceded the record $450 price hike the industry put through on 1975 models last fall helped throw car sales into their worst slump since World War II.

Financial analysts say the companies may try to limit increases to about $150 so as not to further stall an already weak market.

GM is the second auto company to exhaust its SUB fund because of massive layoffs dating back more than a year. Chrysler's fund for 35,000 laid off workers ran out April 1.

SUB funds at Ford and AMC, where layoffs have been less extensive, remain in "relatively healthy" shape, according to the United Auto Workers, which negotiated for SUB 20 years ago.

The average laid-off GM worker had been living on $176 a week, about 95 per cent of his take-home pay. About $92 came from the SUB fund. Most continue to receive an average $84 a week in government unemployment compensation.

The exhaustion of SUB is expected to be especially harsh on auto towns like Flint, where GM owns seven major plants — including its Buick factory — and had been paying about $3 million a month in SUB benefits.

GM has paid out $400 million in SUB payments since January 1974. In Michigan, where GM estimated 24,400 workers will lose SUB, the company said it has paid out $178 million.

Ohio Budget Showdown Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats have come up with their versions of key state budget and school aid measures, setting the stage for Monday and what shapes up as one of the most crucial weeks of the 1975 legislative session.

The House Finance-Appropriations Committee recommended 13-8 along party lines late Thursday a widely revamped bill to finance state operations at a cost of about $10.7 billion, in the two-year bookkeeping period that starts July 1. It is slated for a House floor vote Tuesday.

At the same time, a Senate Education and Welfare subcommittee made more than two dozen amendments to a new "equal yield" school aid distribution bill. Chairman M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, said it will be placed before the full committee at a Monday night meeting.

Minority Republicans in both chambers have had little chance so far — nor has GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes — to exert much influence on either high priority proposal.

However, the school bill, inspired by a lengthy study of the legislature's Education Review Committee, is expected to receive more nonpartisan consideration than the budget.

The Senate resumes floor sessions at 4 p.m. Monday, the House at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Before the lawmakers adjourned for the weekend, the House approved and sent to the Senate, without dissent, a pair of bills aimed at alleviating at least some long range energy and economic problems.

Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, won approval of a bill to expand the authority of the Ohio Water Development Authority so it can issue revenue bonds and make loans for development of solid waste facilities. His bill would permit steam and electricity generated by burning solid wastes to be sold to the general public, Cook explained.

Amy Curtiss Selected In The Know All Star

Amy Curtiss, a veteran member of the In The Know Team at Circleville High School, was notified that she will be a member of the In The Know All Stars. Four teams of four members and two alternates each were selected from geographic regions in Ohio to be distinguished for their outstanding qualities as In The Know players.

AMY CURTISS

Miss Curtiss was an alternate on the CHS team during her sophomore year and was a member of the varsity team the past two years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Curtiss, 505 Lawnwood Court.

A group of In The Know advisors representing the Central Ohio area met with Hunt Carlie, emcee for the program, and John Mullin, producer of the program, to select the 16 all stars and eight alternates.

The four teams will meet in competition which will be broadcast live from the Ohio State Fair in August. After the initial rounds, the teams will again meet in a consolation round and then the two winning teams will meet in a championship round.

Those students selected for the all star team will be honored on the In The Know's "Hour of Victory" award presentation program.

Mrs. Carol Mader, advisor for the CHS In The Know team, said that this was the first year for the program's all star recognition. Initiated this year, it will be an annual project in conjunction with the Channel 10 program.

Circleville High School has participated in the program's competition since 1967. Wallace Higgins is the other team advisor.

Other team members who participated on CHS's team this year are Gloria Alvarez, Mike Johnson, and Matt Sauer. Alternates are Authur Whitfield, Suzanne Herel, Dan Smith and David Uland.

Wallace Blasts Foreign Policy

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace says the United States "has blundered in the last 50 years in its foreign policy." He says the result was American involvement in four wars which could have been prevented.

Wallace called a news conference to discuss his foreign policy after a story was published Thursday based on transcripts of an interview the governor had with foreign journalists.

In that interview, Wallace said if he were president, his foreign policy would be "based on the fact that you can't trust a Communist."

Wallace, who has said he plans to run for president, told the journalists in an interview at the state capitol March 3, "I don't believe in confrontation. I believe in negotiation. I believe in detente. But while I'm detenting, as they say, I wouldn't turn my back on them. And I don't trust the Communists."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., will repay some of the money he had to borrow to pay his income taxes.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., will let their wives spend theirs.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., probably will put his into the bank or into yard work.

And Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Robert Dole, R-Kan., haven't decided.

Those were some of the responses from government officials who were asked how they planned to spend their tax rebate checks.

In coming weeks, the government will send checks of up to $200 to each of the nation's taxpayers, refunding a total of more than $8 billion.

President Ford proposed the rebates earlier this year as a way of putting more money into the economy and helping end the current recession.

The first checks, dated today, were mailed Wednesday and Thursday and should start showing up in mail boxes within a day or two.

A spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service said approximately 13.7 million checks are being mailed in the first week and that all of an estimated 78 million rebate checks will be sent by June 15.

The IRS said rebates will be mailed more or less in the order in which taxpayers filed their 1974 returns, with persons who filed their returns early receiving the first checks.

Basically, taxpayers will receive 10 per cent of the amount they paid in 1974 income taxes up to a maximum of $200.

However, taxpayers who paid at least $100 in taxes would receive a rebate of at least $100, even if that would be more than 10 per cent of their tax bill. Thus, a person who paid $500 in taxes will receive a $100 rebate, not $50.

Persons who paid less than $100 in taxes will get all of their taxes back, but no more.

There is another limitation. Persons whose gross income in 1974 was $20,000 and who paid at least $2,000 in taxes will receive the maximum $200.

But the rebate gets smaller as income rises above $20,000, with persons

State Payments For Court Fees Said Exorbitant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State payments for lawyer fees and court costs involving indigents will total $4.3 million by the end of June for the biennium, predicts Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Ferguson said this is an increase of $300,000 over earlier estimates.

"The common pleas court judges are authorizing what we consider exorbitant fees for defense counsel in many of these cases," Ferguson said.

As an example of high costs, Ferguson said one person was charged with two counts of murder. The total cost to taxpayers for the case was $53,000, some $43,000 for two attorneys for the convicted person, he said.

Older Americans Serve As Peace Corps Volunteers

Today, Americans older than 60 are actively defying the unflattering stereotypes of their age through participation in all types of rewarding occupations.

About 400 of them are spending a part of their "golden years" in a challenging pursuit popularly thought reserved only for the young — service in the Peace Corps.

The Peace Corps is part of ACTION, the federal agency for volunteer service. A look at the Peace Corps shows men and women in their 50's, 60's and 70's giving dedicated service to needy people in Asia, Africa and Latin America. They are among the 7,300 Peace Corps volunteers and trainees serving in 68 developing nations around the world.

With one career behind them, ACTION's older Peace Corps volunteers are seeking new horizons, where their skills are challenged by a new culture, a foreign language and a different lifestyle. In the Peace Corps, the experienced and mature person is very much in demand.

The trend for the Peace Corps to seek the skills and experience of older Americans is continuing. ACTION's domestic volunteer programs also offer opportunities for senior citizens with useful skills to share.

ACTION's domestic programs include Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), Foster Grandparent Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), Active Corps of Executives (ACE), Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Senior Companion Program, ACTION Cooperative Volunteers and University Year for ACTION.

Persons interested in ACTION programs may call 800-424-8580 toll free for more information.

Van Johnson Stars At Playhouse

VAN JOHNSON
Van Johnson is the current attraction at the Country Dinner Playhouse in Reynoldsburg but the real star of "Boeing Boeing" is lesser-known Bob Moak. Moak is not a newcomer to the stage. He has played summer stock for the past 20 years and has toured with Johnson for three years in "There's A Girl In My Soup". Another star attraction in the rip-roaring comedy is Helena Humann who plays playboy Van's maid. The hilarity of the actual lines and the adlibbing she and Moak do in the play, are nothing short of smashing. The story is of a man-around-town who has three air hostesses convinced that each is his one and only. All runs smoothly until the fast jets take over and the girls all arrive "home" at one time.

Disrupted Market

The food cycle has made a full turn again in western Europe. This time it is food surpluses which plague farmers and economic ministers alike. Beef, butter, eggs and wine are among the foods in abundance, but the paradox is that many of the consumers in the Common Market are eating less of them because of high prices.

Few parts of the tightly controlled agriculture market

within the Common Market seem to be working. Although prices of many commodities are at record highs, farmers are complaining they cannot make ends meet and consumers say they cannot afford the prices.

Price supports and other subsidies paid the farmers have produced large surpluses, but rising inflation has meant a shrinking market for many of the goods. The idea of a totally managed market seems to be producing a badly mismanaged economy.

Americans have experienced similar results when heavy controls are placed on agriculture. Simple barter as when a producer sells directly to a consumer may have its inequities, but the farther from the direct exchange one goes the more disorganized the market becomes.

Wonder Of Wonders

By JIM BISHOP

Your brain is gray and pink. It weighs about three pounds and looks like a shelled walnut. It fits tightly inside your skull and uses 10 billion nerve cells, more message centers than the most complex computer. The servant of the brain is the body.

It can order you to feel, smell, taste, hear, speak, see — its autonomic center can even order you to scratch an itch in your sleep, or to cough when your throat tickles.

Although it weighs less than a melon, it has greater power than the biggest planet, the brightest star. It can take an assortment of facts and reach a conclusion. It can be atavistic and instinctive, fearing fire and falling from great heights.

It reserves part of itself as a great storehouse for memories and experiences. Exactly 100 years ago, Wilhelm Wundt, a physiologist and psychologist at the University of Leipzig, discovered that the brain had a psychological aspect which conditioned it to fear, to love, to hate, to be aggressive or passive.

Without the brain, the body is useless. The mind uses a thick stem leading down through the back of the skull to the spinal cord. There, through bundles of nerves, it can order a solitary finger to be moistened on a tongue which it orders to extend itself, and a man can hold it aloft to detect the direction of the wind.

When the body sleeps, the brain remains awake, dreaming confused thoughts and images. Metabolism slows, the heart, lungs and other organs move at reduced speed as they regenerate themselves.

The most important aspect of the brain is consciousness. Apply a general anesthetic and it lapses into unconsciousness, unable to detect or to order the body to feel pain or enjoy. Without consciousness, the human being does not know that there is a universe, or even himself. He knows not that he does not know.

The nerve cells from brain to spine are complex and multitudinous. The wish, for example, to scratch one's nose may run down several bundles of one-way nerves at speeds up to 200 miles per hour. The brain must be aware of the nose itch and order shoulder, arm and fingers to move in the right direction, while, at the same time, another part of the mind will be listening intelligently to a phone call, or watching television.

Sometimes the brain will capture the man, magnifying his problems (especially in the late hours) and automatically demand that he dwell upon them. The difference between the mind of man and the brain of the animal is that the first has initiative, the second works by instinct.

Conversely, any animal — except man — can fend for itself and survive at the age of five. Man cannot. He will weep and drench himself with self-pity but a three-month old kitten will find food and water. To remain conscious, the human brain requires 25 per cent of all the blood's oxygen and a large amount of sugar. Cutting off the supply of either one reduces the human to unconsciousness. Too much oxygen, or too much sugar, will have the same effect. An interruption of nourishment for four short minutes induces irreversible brain damage or death. It is fed by four main arteries, which have an intricate system of cross-

House Speeds Refugees Aid Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's emergency aid request to help up to 150,000 Indochina refugees start new lives is on an accelerated timetable for House action next week, following unanimous subcommittee approval.

The House immigration subcommittee approved the bill Wednesday night after Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., took the extraordinary step of publicly telling the subcommittee to get moving.

"When this country forgets its immigrant heritage and turns its back on the homeless, we will indeed have written finis to the American dream," Rodino said.

The House foreign operations appropriations subcommittee scheduled hearings today on the measure. No Senate action has been scheduled.

There is no money figure in the bill but authorizes such sums as may be necessary. Ford's advisers estimate the programs which it includes would cost $507 million.

Actual money would have to be appropriated in a separate action and members of the President's Indochina task force said they need that appropriation quickly to keep the refugee airlift operating.

An amendment by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., to write a $507-million limit into the bill was rejected 4 to 3. She said she did not seek to limit the money for the refugees but wanted to require that any spending over $507 million get new approval from Congress.

James M. Wilson, deputy director of the task force, testified that $85.6 million of the $98 million the administration already has for refugees has been spent and the rest will be obligated by the weekend.

He said there is no danger of a cutoff of food and other needs of the refugees, but the airlifts would have to be curtailed, causing overcrowding on Guam and Wake islands and forcing hundreds of refugees to remain on board ships headed for those islands.

feeding, so that if any two are blocked, the remaining two will assume the full burden of unremitting nourishment. This wonder of all wonders is encased tightly by a see-through envelope called dura mater ("hard mother").

The mind inside controls 31 pairs of great spinal nerves which take orders to smaller nerves leading laterally from the spine to tiny sensory nerves at the tips of toes, top of scalp, fingertips. Nerves, sensory, motor or autonomic, are all one-way circuits.

The sensories feel; the motor causes movement; the autonomic control breathing, heart rate and circulation while the perons sleeps. In an emergency, or fear, the autonomic system will order a faster heartbeat, a constriction of involuntary muscles and demand an increase in glandular output, including the adrenals.

The brain has an infinite capacity to learn to exercise judgment. It has three means of absorbing knowledge: by rote (teaching); by experience; by reading. Of the three, reading surpasses all other means of comprehension, understanding and sympathetic understanding.

Your three-pound brain is its own universe. Without it, there is nothing but darkness . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The president-elect of the American Bankers Association thinks the average family no longer can afford to buy the average single-family house. It costs too much to buy and maintain, he says.

"We've been pushing the limit for years, but recent events have pushed housing costs over the edge relative to the average man's ability to buy," said J. Rex Duwe in an interview.

The figures tend to bear out the assessment of Duwe, a Lucas, Kan., banker who this October takes over the reins of the 100-year-old association of commercial banks, a group that has 12.5 per cent of its loans in home mortgages.

Government figures, he said, showed that in 1973 the average family headed by a man had a median family income of about $13,000, and the average family headed by a woman had an income of about $5,800.

Statistics also show, he said, that the median sale price of a new, one-family home, excluding mobile homes, was $32,800 in the same year.

"Using the rule of thumb that you shouldn't spend more than 2 1/2 times your annual income on a house, the average household headed by a man could spend $32,500 for a home; a household headed by a woman, about $14,500."

Duwe concedes that rules of thumb make good pointers but poor measuring sticks. They lead you in the general direction of the truth but they're too imprecise to measure it exactly. Nevertheless, his point is made.

"The consumer price index already shows that one-third of every dollar we take home is going to housing," Duwe said in a much-discussed speech at a real estate conference in Denver last week.

"How much more can we afford?" he asked.

Duwe had his reasons for discussing housing costs. "I've become tired of interest rates being the whipping boy for the housing problem," he said. "I'm weary of hearing in Congress and the media that interest rates are the total villain. It isn't so."

He had a secondary reason also. It's about time, he suggested, that the American people re-examine the type of housing they want — and can afford.

French and Portuguese fishermen were catching and curing fish along the Nova Scotian coasts early in the 16th century, National Geographic says. There may have been a Portuguese fisherman's village on Cape Breton Island as early as 1521 — 99 years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a stomach ulcer. They think that one of the reasons is that I am too tense. Now they want me to give up tobacco and alcohol, the two things that make me relax. Now where am I?
Mr. P. W., N.Y.

Dear Mr. W.:

Where are you? You are on your way to better control of your stomach ulcer if you take the advice seriously.

Psychological stress is one of the important factors in the cause and perpetuation of stomach ulcers. There are many other reasons, perhaps more important, for the irritation of the lining of the stomach leading to ulcers.

Alcohol, tobacco, dietary indiscretions and excessive amounts of coffee and tea are some of the other major reasons for the onset of ulcers of the stomach and the duodenum.

I recall a very dramatic series of scientific studies performed at the University of Oklahoma Medical School. It was shown that nicotine in the blood stream interferes with secretions from the pancreas and the gall bladder that normally buffer excess acid in the stomach.

It is easy to understand why alcohol would irritate a stomach ulcer. Can you imagine how much pain alcohol would cause if it were applied directly to an open wound on the skin? Surely, it wouldn't be helpful in healing it.

A reorientation of your patterns of living can, with some tranquilizing drugs, reduce your tensions.

The absence of tobacco and alcohol will allow your ulcer to heal. The physical and emotional benefits will compensate for your loss of alcohol and tobacco.

My eyelashes seem to turn in and irritate my eyes. My eyes are constantly red and painful. Can anything be done about this?

Miss L. L., Neb.

Dear Miss L.:

The condition you describe is known as "trichiasis." There are no known reasons why this occasionally occurs in some people.

Eye doctors suggest that the curved eyelash be gently plucked out. In most instances, this is sufficient.

Sometimes, the lash grows out again with the same curvature. Then it may be necessary to destroy the root of the offending hair cell by electrolysis.

Both the plucking and the electrolysis should be done by an eye doctor. With a local anesthetic, it is not painful.

Dear Editor:

Each year, usually on a Saturday before Memorial Day, millions of Americans walk to their homes and offices wearing little red poppies. These small flowers are offered to the public by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary and other volunteers who donate their time and effort for this purpose.

Most of you already know that the poppies are worn in memory of the men who lost their lives in our nation's wars, but I wonder if you know just how the poppy came to be the memorial flower.

From 1914 until 1918, the battlefields of Europe were trampled by the boots of millions of fighting men. From 1917 to 1918, American troops were part of the Allied Forces which fought to bring peace to Europe and liberty to its subjected peoples. Months of hard fighting and thousands of lives were the prices paid for this objective. As American troops advanced through France and Flanders, the only touch of life and beauty sometimes seen were the wild poppies that bloomed amid the rubble of war.

Along the trenches, around the shell craters, and among the barbed wire and wreckage, the little poppies grew and blossomed. The tiny blooms also covered the graves of American fighting men who had fallen on the battlefields; they soon became a symbol of sacrifice to the living.

Other wars have been fought since that time, some of them taking place on the same fields of Europe. Thousands of American fighting men again were called upon to make the ultimate sacrifice for freedom, and the poppy has become the symbol of our war dead of the past wars. It is recognized as the emblem of the high ideals for which these fighting men gave their lives and many of their comrades suffered injury.

This is why we pin on a poppy as a tribute both to the dead and living American servicemen. The poppies still cover the fields of France beneath which many of them lie. On Poppy Day we all have an opportunity to place this memorial flower over our hearts in tribute to the sacrifice which they made.

Sincerely,
MRS. PAT McFARLAND
Poppy Day Chairman for Unit No. 134, American Legion Auxiliary

Dear Editor:

The Pickaway county trustees of the Scioto Society Inc. met recently to discuss plans for a work day in the amphitheatre and grounds in preparation for the arrival of the cast and crew of Tecumseh. The event will be called A Day on Sugar Loaf Mountain and will occur on Saturday, May 17.

Mr. Stuart Withers of Chillicothe, chairman of the Grounds Committee, will co-ordinate the efforts of the volunteer force. Newell Stevenson is the Pickaway county member of this committee.

The trustees hope that this will be an opportunity for Boy Scout troops, 4-H clubs and interested adults to perform a community service by donating a day or part of a day to the Society. There is much work to be done—from heavy shoveling and leveling to picking up sticks and debris.

Volunteers will be welcomed from 9 a.m. at the amphitheatre, which may be reached by driving south on Route 23 and turning left on Delano road opposite the outdoor theatre north of Chillicothe. Society trustees are furnishing lunch for the workers.

Please call Mrs. Roger May at 474-3527 or Mrs. David Yates at 474-2035 if a sizeable group plans to attend, so that the committee will have some idea of how much food to prepare.

Local support would be most appreciated. Several dozen willing volunteers could accomplish a great deal of very vital work. Rakes, hoes and shovels will be welcome also.

The Society can promise an incomparable setting in which to spend a beautiful spring day. The success of the event, however, depends upon the participants.

Vacation Closings Readied By Ford

DETROIT (AP) — Virtually all of Ford Motor Co.'s manufacturing employees will be on vacation for two to three weeks in July as the auto maker takes the unprecedented step of closing all 64 plants.

Ford said Wednesday it will be the first time it has closed all its plants at virtually the same time. A company spokesman said the unusual action is being taken because the slow market for autos won't require steady production through the end of the model year.

The plants will be closed later in the year — though probably not at the same time — to tool up for 1976 models.

On Books And Activities At The Library

If you're planning to see "Tecumseh" this year and are interested in reading some background material before you visit the outdoor drama, we'd like to suggest that you visit the Pickaway County District Public Library NOW. That material circulates widely during the summer months and you do your reading early.

May is a busy month but be sure to save time for reading. Lots of good new titles are in this week. Gardens and plants are popular topics this time of year. For a delightful and informative book on the subject, try "I Never Met A Plant I Didn't Like" by Jerry Baker. Many of his ideas can be adapted to outside gardening.

For the "horsey set," "Big Red Of Meadow Stable" by William Mack is a look inside at the world of horse racing in general, and the training of the champion, Secretariat, in particular.

Before you attend the Welk concert this month, be sure to pick up "Ah-One, Ah-Two" by Lawrence Welk. It's the story of his musical family.

Two other well-known names in the entertainment world are subjects of biographies. "Tallulah, Darling Of The Gods" by Kieran Tunney is the story of the throaty Miss Bankhead while "Speak To Me, Dance With Me" by Agnes de Mille is the personal story of the famous dancer-choreographer.

Several of the astronauts have written about their space missions. "Carrying The Fire" by Michael Collins is done with touches of humor to relieve the drama of the adventure.

"Alexander Dolgun's Story" by Dolgun and Watson is the story of an American in the Gulag. At age 22, the author was made a prisoner of the Russian MGB and was held for 24 years. He was finally allowed to leave Russia in 1971.

The true story of a man's courageous mission during WW II is the work of James Leasor. The success of the landing at Dieppe hinged on the do-or-die efforts of a volunteer. Drama and history is combined in "Green Beach."

For devotees of English history, "Cromwell" by Antonia Fraser is a well-written, authoritative biography of the Lord Protector of England.

"Long Live Columbus" by Harry Golden is a marvelous collection of wit, philosophy, and commentary on persons, places, and things.

Mental depression, its causes and treatments, is discussed by Dr. Nathan S. Kline in "From Sad To Glad."

A new Catherine Cookson novel, "A Grand Man" introduces a spunky eight-year-old heroine called Mary Ann and her efforts to bring about a better life for the family of her n'er-do-well father.

Romantic suspense in 19th Century Boston is the theme of "The Medici Ring" by Nicole St. John.

Psychological suspense and romance fills the story of Julia Rivers in Jane Aiken Hodge's new book entitled "One Way To Venice."

A new police thriller involving murder in San Francisco is "After-shock" by Collin Wilcox.

"The Mote In God's Eye" is a major science fiction novel by Larry Niven and Jerry Pournell. It is placed far into the future and presents a new approach to the problem of contact with aliens from the unknown world.

"Far Tortuga" is a novel of the sea by Peter Matthiessen. It's the story of a turtling boat from the West Indies and the men who sail on her. It's written in an unusual poetic style.

For the readers of the light Avalon romances, several new titles are included in this week's new books.

Enjoy the merry month of May with a good book from your local library.

The posh new $26 million outlay at Salt Fork near Cambridge, "where it takes three years to get a reservation," is his prime example.

"I don't know anyone who can get one," Meshel said, smiling.

He was incensed when the department asked the State Controlling Board to release $131,000 to build an asphalt path for golf carts over the sprawling park's $1 million golf course.

Despite an admonition by Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, that the course's steep slopes could cause "a lot of coronaries," Meshel got the board to turn down the request by a 4-3 vote.

He had support from Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-38 Dayton, who allowed that people on the verge of heart attacks "are going to have them anyway."

Meshel said that while Salt Fork is "absolutely beautiful, I wouldn't vote to spend another quarter over there."

"The parks ought to be affordable, and serve the vast majority of taxpayers," the Youngstown lawmaker said.

A bill to protect the sale of pure honey from misrepresented imitations bearing honey labels sailed through the Ohio House after Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, explained the role of the honeybee in pollinating Ohio's crops.

Locker said Ohio's more than 9,000 honeybee keepers would quit the business if they couldn't sell the end product. Almost every fruit tree and those crops that grow on vines have to be pollinated. After the wide use of pesticides, he said, the honeybee is about the only insect left to do the job.

Locker said the honeybee was so important that some Ohio farmers even rent them.

"But, don't ask me how to go about renting a honeybee," the 44-year-old school teacher said.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, House minority leader who served three terms as speaker from 1966 through 1972, is accustomed to finding himself quoted in Ohio's newspapers.

But he expressed himself as puzzled as well as amused when he saw a reporter's account of how he "fumed" over passage of a bill by opposition Democrats.

"I didn't even speak against the bill on the floor," he said. "I made a statement in opposition later. Was that fuming?"

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q) World War II veterans who never used their GI Home Loan benefits are still eligible. How about school benefits?

(A) The Veterans Administration can provide educational benefits only for eligible veterans discharged after January 31, 1955. These educational benefits expire 10 years after date of discharge or May 31, 1974, whichever is later.

(Q) I've been having trouble lately with a stomach condition that developed during military service. I've been out of the service three years, and wonder if I can still apply for disability compensation from the Veterans Administration?

(A) Yes. There is no deadline for filing a claim for a service connected disability.

(Q) I know a veteran's widow who draws death pension from the Veterans Administration and lives in a nursing home. Is she eligible for additional benefits if she is in need of regular aid and attendance?

(A) Yes. She would be entitled to an additional special monthly pension of $64 if she draws benefits under the new pension law.

(Q) Can a veteran enrolled in a GI Bill training program other than a college course still get the VA tutoring payment?

(A) Only College trainees are eligible for tutorial assistance. A veteran must be enrolled half-time or more and have a deficiency in a subject required in an approved program of education. Payment cannot be more than $50 in any month, up to a maximum of $450.

(Q) I am a disabled World War II veteran and get monthly VA disability compensation. I will soon become eligible for Social Security benefits. Will VA reduce my compensation when I start collecting Social Security?

(A) No. VA does not count any income against compensation for service connected disabilities, including Social Security payments. However, income (including Social Security) is counted in determining pensions of veterans with non service connected disabilities.

First Metric Encyclopedia

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1975 edition of the World Book Encyclopedia gives both the customary or English and metric measurements throughout the text.

"In most cases where a measurement appears in an article," explains Dr. William Nault, editorial director, "World Book gives the customary English measurement with the metric equivalent in parentheses. This required the conversion of more than 30,000 measurements and an outlay of more than $2 million."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Won't Show His Hand

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice young man at a church fellowship affair for singles. Clyde had good manners and dressed well, and although he was on the quiet side I managed to make enough conversation with him so that he asked to see me again.

We saw each other a few times and seemed to hit it off well. But there is one problem: Clyde doesn't like to shake hands with anybody. In fact, he even asked me not to take him any place where he would have to shake hands.

I noticed that when Clyde was introduced to another man, he kept his hands in his pockets and said, "Pleased to meet you." The other fellow looked a little embarrassed because he was all set to shake hands with Clyde.

Does Clyde have a problem? Or am I making too much out of this?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Clyde has a problem. It's probably an obsession with "germs"—imagined or real. In a society where handshaking is customary, refusing to shake hands could be considered unfriendly or even insulting.

Clyde would be well advised to talk to a professional about it. And I hope he does.

DEAR ABBY: A while back, a lady wrote and told you that she didn't like the way her daughter-in-law kept house. You told the mother not to say anything since it was not her house.

Does this hold true for the marriage problems of one's married children? I say, the parents should stay out of their kids' domestic squabbles even though they want to help.

Am I right or wrong?

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: You're right! The last person to mediate a family fight is a member of that family.

DEAR ABBY: We desperately need your help and advice on a very serious matter.

Our daughter who is only 14 (I will call her "Mary") is pregnant. What we are going through right now is unbelievably trying. Our gynecologist has been a tremendous help. He has suggested terminating the pregnancy. My husband and I agree that this is the best solution. So does Mary. (Thank God she told us in time!)

Our problem is that the doctor has suggested that when this is all over we should put our Mary on birth-control pills.

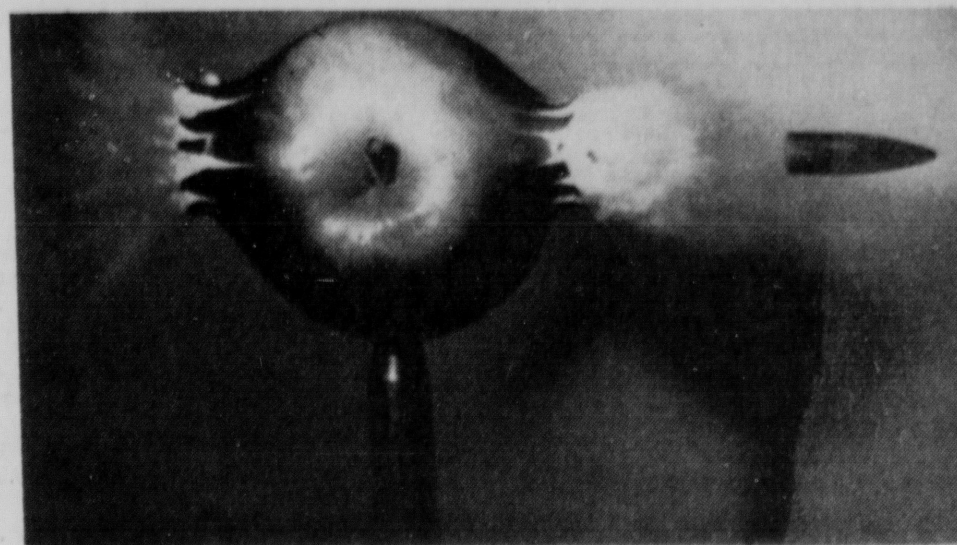

My husband feels that if we do, Mary will feel free to have sex whenever the opportunity arises. We certainly do not want this.

Speaking as her mother, I never want to have to go through this again. Mary says that she has learned her lesson and that she will never get in a spot like this again. But how can we be sure?

What are your views on the subject, Abby? And what have other parents done when they have had to make such a decision?

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: I agree with the doctor. I would also provide Mary with counseling. (Your Planned Parenthood offers excellent help in this area.) Good luck.

If there were no plants there could be no animals for all get their food from plants. Not all animals get their food directly from plants, but those who don't, eat animals who eat plants.

Edgerton made this stroboscopic photograph that had an exposure of one three-millionth of a second to catch the bullet in flight and the apple before it disintegrated.

A good umbrella keeps you dry—unless the wind starts blowing. In this case, you are bound to get soaking wet!

There is really no such thing as total protection; neither in an umbrella nor in living through just one day. There are all sorts of windstorms, and they sweep into our lives and upset the best made plans. When this happens there is no such thing as finding an umbrella under which to hide.

Since life is so complicated, each of us has to learn to face it in his own way. Those with a strong and unshakable faith are the lucky ones. They have gained a sense of proportion and basic values through their church. And they didn't just "get" faith! They had to start looking for it. YOU do, too. And where? In church, of course!

Woman Wins $300,000; Eyes Hawaii

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— This week's Ohio lottery drawing may have spawned a beach bum.

Donna Barnett, 47, of Warren, who won top prize of $300,000, said before the eliminations began that if she won she wanted to go to Hawaii with her husband, soak up the sun "and be a beach bum."

"I'm still numb" she said after winning. "I'm awfully happy."

The Barnetts received a trip to Hawaii as a 25th wedding anniversary present from their children three years ago.

Linda Gutfranski of Parma won $60,000 after cutting ceramics class to attend the drawing. She said her husband makes the big money decisions in the family but added, "I think we'll pay off the mortgage."

Third prize of $30,000 went to Blanche Frederick of Toledo.

Merlin "Red" Wellman of Huntington, the fifth player, was the fifth eliminated, missing third prize by one place. Before the eliminations, he said he talked to last week's $60,000 winner from West Virginia, Clifford Hancock, and was told "just how to win."

Sohio Plans Land Transit Of Petroleum

SEATTLE (AP) — The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio announced Thursday it has decided against a supertanker terminal and oil pipeline on Puget Sound and instead will ship Alaskan oil to the Midwest from the Los Angeles-Long Beach area.

The Cleveland-based company said the oil would be shipped from California ports through a 1,000-mile pipeline, including 700 miles of natural gas pipeline already in place.

Sohio owns a majority of the oil reserves at Alaska's Prudhoe Bay. Its plans are for a pipeline that ultimately would carry one million barrels a day of oil to the Midwest.

The plan, announced in Los Angeles and Seattle, would make use of El Paso Natural Gas pipeline from the California-Arizona border to Midland, in west Texas, a distance of about 700 miles.

The additional 350 miles of pipeline would be primarily within California, with some pipeline needed in other areas for connections with existing pipelines.

The pipeline, when completed in early 1978, would have a 500,000 barrel-per-day capacity. Its ultimate capacity could be twice that, a spokesman said.

Parents Thrilled With Quintuplets

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Mark and Pamela Levy are thrilled at the idea of being the parents of quintuplets, but they'd just as soon it didn't happen again.

"I look in the nursery at all those babies and I can't believe that we did it," said Mrs. Levy Thursday at a press conference. "It's a miracle."

When someone asked her during a news conference whether they planned to have any more children after beginning her family so auspiciously, Mrs. Levy was less enthusiastic.

"We've got enough to keep us busy for awhile," she laughed.

Right now, both parents and quints are caught up in a whirl of publicity

Plant Fire Indictment Rewritten

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A federal grand jury Thursday issued a revised indictment against ten men accused of the March 1 fire bombing of a Shelton factory.

No new names were added and no major changes in charges were made, according to U.S. Atty. Peter Dorsey. He said the indictment primarily deleted reference to a minor in the first indictment and added four charges related to destructive devices.

The ten face federal bombing conspiracy charges from the initial indictment.

In addition federal prosecutors issued summonses requiring seven of the suspects to appear in New Haven May 19 to enter pleas in connection with the explosion and fire that destroyed a portion of the Sponge Rubber Products Co.

New information included in the document indicates that Ronald Betres, Albert R. Coffey and Anthony Just allegedly abducted three plant employes shortly before the sprawling complex on the Housatonic River erupted in flames.

Charles Moeller, the president of the parent company, and his spiritual advisor, psychic minister David N. Bubar, were among the ten men charged. All but Coffey, who was still at large Thursday night, have been arrested and are free on bond.

Two of the men have pleaded innocent.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Well, Jerry has been home from the hospital for over a week and the old McGaffney homestead is rapidly rounding back into shape after a four month absence on the part of the head of the clan.

The little bundle of dynamite has everything under control and no longer has any use for her crutches to get around. A little more rest and the addition of a few pounds and the sex symbol of S. Scioto St. will once again be hitting the pavement on Main St.

Mrs. Kelly couldn't be happier. She has relinquished her household duties and no longer has to prepare the meals — It's just as well as we were getting a little tired of boiled Gaines Burgers and dry dog biscuits.

We just can't say enough about the wonderful care and attention she received from the staff in the intensive care unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital West. They are just great and not only pulled her through the crisis but provided us with a Valentines Day that we will never forget.

And we were blessed with a pair of fine doctors at Mt. Carmel in Dr. Michael Anthony and Dr. Michael Cooney, who we feel probably saved her life.

She went into Mt. Carmel the first part of January, and although we just can't say enough wonderful things about them, when we had Jerry transferred back to Berger Hospital it was "coming home" for us.

We also received the finest care and treatment at Berger and the nurses and nurses aides treated Jerry like a queen. They did everything possible to make her comfortable and to keep her spirits up.

The physical therapists, Mr. Diehl and Mr. Rare, from the Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe, were great and did some marvelous work with her and we are happy to say have restored all of her muscles.

But we just couldn't believe the concern and care shown by the marvelous people of Circleville and Pickaway County. Cards and flowers flowed into the hospital daily and we will always be grateful for this and all the prayers that were said for her.

We certainly didn't make any mistake when we left Youngstown eight years ago to cast our lot with a wonderful community and some of the finest people in the world.

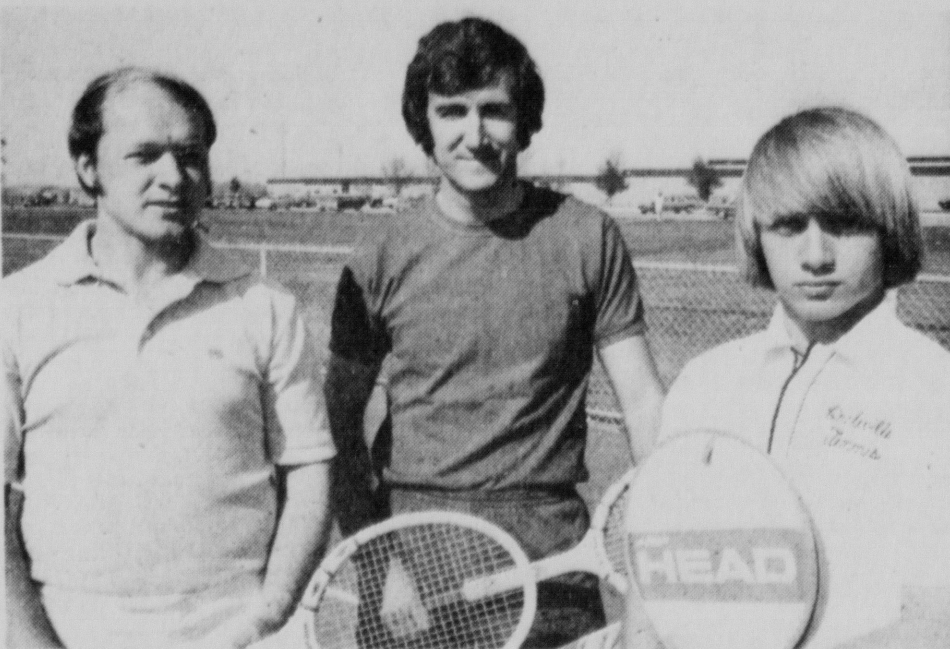

Someone said that we have had a bad year but this isn't true — In all reality it has been a good year — We both came down with a very serious illness and both fully recovered — Believe us that has to make it a good year.

We would also like to tell people what a great job our own doctor did for us but he gets mad at us when we say it. So this Irish Mick will be a little Coy and just say he always Bobs up when we need him. I guess that is 'Neff said so we'll just Dot things out.

We will never forget all of the many acts of kindness that we were shown and can only say God Bless All Of You. May you always walk with the wind at your backs.

Our "fearless" forecast — From what we saw it looks like Crenshaw who will say "Hee Haw" in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

NET MEN—Jerry Kelly (left) and David Crawford (right) discuss local YMCA 1975 tennis tournament plans with Dan Campbell, Circleville High School tennis coach. Divisions in the tournament will be: men and boys, 13 and up, singles for beginners and intermediates; men's singles, advanced; men and boys doubles, beginners and intermediates; men's doubles, advanced; and women and girls, 13 and up, singles. Rules and application forms can be obtained at the YMCA and deadline for all registrations will be May 29. A very small registration fee will be charged.

Scioto Downs Prepares For Season Opening

Scioto Downs begins its seventeenth year May 16th. In previewing the upcoming season, Scioto Downs president, Charles D. Hill, stated, "we are opening our 17th year with the finest array of racing stables we have ever had. Every top stable, and almost every top trotter and pacer in the sport is scheduled to appear at our track sometime during the 100-night meeting."

Herman Brickel, Scioto's newly appointed Director of Racing, echoes Charlie Hill's statement. In addition to 1974 leading drivers, Dick Williams and Dick Farrington, the racing colony this year includes Hall of Fame members Joe O'Brien, Howard Beissinger, and the Curly Smart stable with grandson Rick Midden in charge.

Vikings Top Dublin, 9-2

Brad Stuthard hurled four-hit ball to lead the Teays Valley Vikings to a 9-2 decision over Dublin Thursday on the losers' diamond.

He had fine control as he only issued one free pass and struck out two. Ciminello, Townsend and Gable shared mound duties for the Shamrocks. They gave up a total of nine hits, two walks and fanned seven.

Steve Williams slammed a double and single for the Vikings, Rusty Rathburn added two singles, Jack Derr had a double while Ron Bumgarner, Stuthard, Ranie Wohnhas and Jim Baxter each slashed a single.

Softball Contest To Aid Girls Loop

Correction In City Junior Pin Game

In a recent picture on the sports page of The Herald some of the winners in the City Junior Pin Tournery were shown. Credit for rolling a scratch 246 game was mistakenly given to Rhonda Nelson. The game was actually rolled by Jeff Hipp, who is also in the picture.

CHS Game Cancelled

Circleville's baseball game scheduled for tonight at Unioto has been cancelled.

Celtics Face Elimination In Playoffs

BOSTON (AP) — Less than two weeks ago, a couple of members of the Boston Celtics remarked it was "like looking at yourself in a mirror" when they played the Washington Bullets.

They didn't realize it at the time, but so far everything indicates they were thinking of crazy fun-house mirrors.

The Bullets, coached by former Celtic great K.C. Jones, have shown the ability and poise of Boston's great teams of the past. Now they have the mighty defending champion Celtics on the brink of elimination in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Washington, leading 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, seeks to wrap up the Eastern Conference championship and oust Boston tonight at the Garden. A victory will send the Bullets into the title round against the winner of the Golden State Chicago playoff in the Western Conference, which the Bulls lead 3-2 after an 89-79 victory Thursday night.

Since rallying from a 12-point deficit to win the opening game 100-95, the Bullets have looked the better team, employing old Celtics plays learned by Jones and employing new patterns. Washington won the second game 117-92, Boston took the third 101-90 and the Bullets romped 119-108 Wednesday night in Landover, Md.

Tiger Girls Win Contest

Circleville's girls softball team traveled to Hillsboro Thursday and downed the Indians, 15-4, for the Tigers third win of the season.

Sue Crist hurled the win for the Tigers. Circleville broke the game open with six runs in the fourth inning. The Tigers also had their first double play of the season when Wanda Boyd and Sue Radcliff came up with a second to first twin killing.

Hitting for Circleville were: Wanda Boyd, two doubles and two singles; Julie Johnson, two singles and two doubles; Sue Radcliff, three singles; Darla Hughes, triple and single; Linda Holveck, single; Cindy Tucker, four singles; Cindy Dayhoff, two doubles and a single; Sue Stevenson, Single; Sue Crist, two singles; Kathy Morehart, double and single.

Circleville (3-7) will be at Washington C. H. Tuesday.

Sports Loses Great In Avery Brundage

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports has lost a great champion in the death of Avery Brundage.

Critics reviled him. They called him a tyrant. They said he was stiff-necked and old-fashioned. They accused him of being unrealistic in his unflagging battle to keep high the ideals of pure amateurism.

In a way, he was all of these things. He was an anachronism in an age of rampant commercialism, the huckster and the fast-buck.

But if it hadn't been for Avery Brundage, the Olympic Games might have been reduced to rubble decades ago.

Whatever the Olympics are—whatever dignity they have maintained under the intense pressures of super-nationalism, slick wheelers and dealers, athletes seeking to turn gold medals into personal fortunes—they owe to the tough old codger from Chicago.

He was an imposing figure of a man—tall, straight as a poker, wearing the muscled physique of an athlete who competed in the same Olympics with the great Jim Thorpe.

Even in his 80s, he walked with a strong, crisp step, his chin usually thrust forward as if daring his enemies to take a swing at it, his shoulders always back.

He talked with a booming, authoritative voice. When he spoke, people listened. Many feared him. Most were in awe of him.

As president of the International Olympic Committee, he hob-nobbed with princes and potentates, presidents and kings.

In royal company, Avery Brundage had a way of standing out as the most regal of them all.

To him, the Olympics were something that came down from the gods—down from Mt. Olympus.

The Games were not legislated. They were ordained. They were beholden to nobody. In Brundage's mind, they were above politics, personal greed and national pride.

That's the reason the old man was always on the griddle.

He was criticized for not taking a strong stand against the Soviet Union's policy of subsidizing athletes. There are no professionals in Russia, but every athlete, in effect, is a pro—pampered and paid by the state.

"In the Soviet Union," Brundage said, "everybody is subservient to the state. It is the system. But I see no greater fault in that than the American practice of subsidizing athletes through college scholarships."

Lima Man Aims At Formula Racing

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Lack of a sponsor will keep Robert LaWarre Sr.'s novel car from another crack at auto racing's big boys in the Indianapolis 500 this year.

So the Lima, Ohio, business executive is pointing his stock block-powered machine toward Formula 5000 road racing with John Hubbard driving.

"We'll enter as many Formula 5000 and USAC championship races as possible," said the president of Precision Metalcraft Corp. "With more horsepower and better fuel consumption—Hubbard claims 3.2 miles per gallon—I think we'll show 'em a thing or two before the season is over."

LaWarre's 1968 Eagle, however, never had a chance for a starting position in the 500 last spring. Time ran out before rookie driver Larry Rice could get in four qualifying laps.

"When we showed up at Indianapolis last year, a lot of people thought we were some kind of joke. But it didn't take them long to realize we were for real."

"My car passed technical inspection in less than four hours and, believe me, they looked extra hard to find something wrong."

"The car was built for road racing by Dan Gurney back in 1968. Mark Donohue drove it for three years in Formula A. Later Arnie Knepper tried twice to qualify at Indy but failed both times."

He bought the car for salvage two years ago. Then he changed his mind and completely rebuilt the car's suspension system and redesigned the power plant with a stock block engine.

"The engine is just as competitive as the four-cylinder, turbocharged Offy. Without giving away any secrets, my stock block can generate 700 horsepower," said LaWarre.

In fact, the Ohioan envisions the stock block engine as the engine of the future for the 500.

"Who has $30,000 just to buy an Offy?" asked LaWarre. "It shouldn't cost more than $8,000 for a stock block."

"You put a bunch of 355 cubic inch stock blocks at Indy and you'll see a competitive show, not what auto racing has become in recent years... one car leaving everybody."

"I thought USAC would change its rules this year instead of waiting until 1976 or 1977 to open the door for stock blocks. I know of at least 10 guys who would have entered this year at Indy," claimed LaWarre.

The 55-year-old Findlay, Ohio, native drove a sprinter when he was 18 around the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan circuit. He started building engines a year later.

LaWarre went from the midjets to super modifieds, sprinters and finally championship cars.

Davis Argues, Boosts Rangers To Victory

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
What's a few words between friends?

That's the way Texas Rangers centerfielder Willie Davis feels about his shouting match with Manager Billy Martin earlier this week—let bygones be bygones.

"I love Billy, we're great friends," says Davis. "Arguments clear the air. Out of arguments comes the best understanding."

And Martin? He's happy, too, as long as Davis hits the way he did Thursday night.

Davis rapped out four hits against Kansas City, including a two-run homer which tied the game and a ninth-inning single which knocked in the go-ahead run in the Rangers' 5-3 victory over the Royals.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blanked the Oakland A's 5-0 and the Detroit Tigers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 6-4.

The shouting match between Martin and Davis took place Wednesday night, when Martin kept the lockerroom door closed for about 15 minutes following a 6-5 loss to the Royals.

One player said later that at the meeting Martin cited a number of "stupid errors," including Davis' attempt to stretch a double into a triple in the fifth inning. He was thrown out, killing a rally.

Davis apparently said something, because reporters outside the door heard Martin yell, "I'm doing the talking here." Shouts and curses ensued, with Martin finally hollering, "That's the way things are going to be, and if you don't like it then get out of here." More shouts and yells followed.

When reporters were finally admitted, everyone was mum.

Some 24 hours later, it was a different story. Happiness prevailed.

"I plan the next day in advance," said Davis after his four-hit effort. "I started planning this one last night. If it comes off, I'm happy. If it doesn't, I'm still happy. I'm always happy."

He denied the shouting match inspired his big day.

"I'm motivated all the time," he said. "Last night is gone and past. I love Billy. We've known each other for many years. We've partied together. You can't throw all that away over a few words."

And Martin kept up his end, saying Davis "is playing his heart out. I don't single out players at a meeting. I didn't say a word to him. I had something to say to the players. I've done it before."

Davis' third home run of the season, with Jim Sundberg aboard, erased a 3-1 Kansas City lead in the seventh inning. Two innings later the Rangers broke the tie on one-out singles by Cesar Tovar, Len Randle and Davis.

Jeff Burroughs then laced a double to right-center, scoring Randle to make it 5-3.

Angels 5, A's 0

Nolan Ryan blanked Oakland on four singles and struck out 10 in raising his record to 6-1 and becoming only the third pitcher in the majors to win six games this season, joining Vida Blue of

Oakland and Don Sutton of Los Angeles.

Mickey Rivers was the batting star for the Angels with a run-scoring single and a two-run triple.

Tigers 6, Brewers 4

Rookie Dan Meyer blasted the first pitch in the bottom of sixth inning for his second home run of the season, snapping a 4-4 tie. The Tigers got another run in the inning when Leon

Roberts walked, stole second, took third on a throwing error by Darrell Porter and scored on an infield out.

Relief pitcher Ray Bare got the victory, with a big save to John Hiller, who stopped the Brewers cold. Over the last three innings he allowed just one hit and one walk while striking out seven, including six in a row—one short of the major league record for relievers.

Logan City School Problems Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Education Association reports it has found that problems in the Logan City School District stem from inadequate financing, a breakdown in the negotiation process and citizen resentment of school consolidations.

The five-member panel conducted a four-day study of the district at the direction of the OEA Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission and request of the Logan Education Association.

The educators interviewed students, nonteaching staff, teachers and administrators.

The report noted that no significant change has occurred in the negotiations process since the OEA imposed professional sanctions on the district in 1971.

It said lack of adequate financing has tended to keep the district at, and in some cases below, the state's minimum standards.

Another key problem, the report said, stems from a nearly countywide consolidation of school districts which resulted in the only city school district in the state that embraces almost an entire county.

It some citizens feel that the city school district took control of previously autonomous districts throughout the county.

The panel recommended that:

—The Logan Board of Education review its attitude and procedure toward professional negotiations with teachers.

—Voters approve a proposed five-mill operating levy in the June election.

—Citizens "lay aside their resentment over the loss of their former school structure and think and act in terms of the district as it now exists."

—The district create the practice of using money from the general fund to remodel and build additions to existing facilities.

Celina Financial Earnings Decline

CELINA, Ohio (AP) — Net income for Celina Financial Corp. dipped slightly for the first quarter as compared with the same period last year, but earnings per share remained at 60 cents, company officials reported Thursday.

First quarter revenues were $3.04 million and net income was $279,341, compared with revenues of $2.40 million and net income of $282,099 for last year's first quarter.

Reduced earnings due Ohio Reinsurance, a subsidiary, contributed to the corporation's showing, officials said.

Plescia Leads Track Team To 6th SCOL Championship

By JEFF BOHENKO

Frank Plescia led the Circleville High School track team to their sixth straight SCOL championship at the league meet at Unioto April 29.

Plescia swept four events in the meet, which is an unprecedented accomplishment by a CHS track athlete. He won the high jump with a leap of six feet, placed first in the long jump by sailing 21 feet 2 inches, sprinted through the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.6 seconds, and breezed through the 180 yard low hurdles in 20.1 seconds.

FRANK PLESCIA

Plescia stated, "I was quite pleased that our team was able to win the league. Coach Jim Lint and everyone on the team has worked hard all year."

Plescia holds many CHS records in track, both as an individual and as a team member.

His records are as follows: individual records-high jump, 6 feet 3 inches; triple jump, 42 feet 8 inches; 330 low hurdles, 41.6 seconds; and pentathlon, 3,242 points; two-man records-high jump, 12 feet; three-man records: high jump, 17 feet 8 inches; triple jump, 116 feet 2 inches; shuttle hurdle relay, 57.3 seconds; and 440 relay, 46.4 seconds.

Along with these impressive records, Plescia also attained recognition by placing first in the District Pentathlon with 3,223 points. He went on to finish fifth in the state with a school record 3,242 points.

In his high school career Plescia ran track and cross country as a sophomore and played basketball. He participated in these same three sports as a junior; as a senior, he played football, and he is presently involved with track.

When asked his feelings about his involvement in sports at CHS, he replied, "I've always enjoyed sports in spite of the many long hours involved. I try to condition myself by staying active and working out year round."

He commented about the coaching at CHS, "Perhaps one of the reasons why I've done so well in track is due to a great deal of respect for Mr. Lint. He's always been willing to help me and the other men on the team."

Although he is quite involved with sports and Student Council, Plescia finds time for hunting, fishing, and all other sports. He plans to attend Bowling Green State University this fall, where he hopes to run track and major in mathematics.

He resides at 240 Edwards Road with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Plescia, his brothers Mark and Kris, and his sister Marcia.

DECA Members Receive Special Recognition

By CAROL DeMINT

Nine senior DECA members received recognition for their special efforts throughout both their junior and senior years at the 1974-75 annual DECA Employer-Employee Appreciation Banquet April 24 at the L-K Restaurant.

Sharon Snyder received the student-of-the-year award, which is the highest award any Distributive Education Student can achieve. Sharon's name is engraved on a plaque, which was presented to the club by the Sears Foundation in 1965. Besides being an outstanding club president both her junior and senior years, Sharon has achieved many personal goals in the DECA Club. Some of her accomplishments are District Miss Ohio DECA, senior year; first in district display contest, junior year; first in job interview girl in district contest, senior year; second runner-up in job interview in state contest, senior year.

Sharon commented that she was very surprised and happy to receive such an award.

Receiving the coordinators awards were Beth Blaney, Pam Hawley, Darrell McCoy, and Randy Young. The coordinators feel these students helped them the most throughout their junior and senior years. "They were always willing to sacrifice their time when we needed anything done," commented coordinators Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood and Bill Rosengarten.

A very important part of the DE program is on-the-job training. Bonnie Arledge and Dave Rossiter were given the job improvement awards. According to the coordinators, these students have learned their jobs quickly and performed them well.

Top sales person award was presented to Cindy Moore, who sold the most club products during her junior and senior years.

The most improved student award was given to Ron Huffer, employed at Ward's Cardinal Market. The coordinators based their decision upon Ron's capability to improve in all three areas of the program—in class, on-the-job, and in club activities.

"I feel that many students deserve awards for just being the outstanding people they are, and I'm sure this class will be successful in all their future attempts," said Rosengarten.

Mrs. Greenwood commented, "I'm very proud of all these students, and if they continue to do as well with their future lives and career goals, the class of 1975 will always be known as an energetic group of DE students."

Classes Discuss Death

By LOWELL HUNTER

Richard Billman's psychology and sociology classes held a seminar last week on death and dying.

Speakers and their topic areas were Allan Berger, legal aspects of death; Doctor F. W. Anderson, medical aspects of death; the Reverend David Frazer, religious aspects of death; and Chuck Wellman, funerals.

Berger stressed wills and the disposition of property after death both with and without a will. He also gave the legal definition of death.

The different ways an individual according to his age group might react to the thought of imminent death was one subject that Anderson touched upon along with the medical determination of death.

Wellman presented a film on death which showed actual death situations and showed different view points and attitudes about death.

Death is an integral part of life, said Reverend Frazer, and we must have a solid ground for ourselves about death.

Two other seminars have been scheduled. Those topics are mental illness and retardation and the social agencies available for use.

Guidance Guidelines

A career day program for sophomores and juniors is being planned by the guidance staff and the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce. Consultants from the community will make presentations in 14 areas in the program scheduled for the afternoon of May 28. The career areas being used are based on the US Department of Labor's career clusters, which group occupations according to the type of work which is performed.

The career areas to be included in this program are industrial production, office occupations, service occupations, education occupations, sales occupations, construction occupations, transportation occupations, scientific and technical occupations, mechanics and repairmen, health occupations, social scientists and social service occupations, art, design, and communications, agricultural occupations, and a general employment skills area.

New Teacher Comes To CHS From Maryland

MRS. MARSHA KOWALSKI

By CATHY ROUIT

A new teacher at Corwin Street Elementary School is Mrs. Marsha Kowalski. Mrs. Kowalski and her family were transferred here from Bethesda, Md. She resides at 2050 Chippewa Drive with her husband and daughter, Pam.

Mrs. Kowalski attended Virginia Commonwealth University, where she majored in elementary education. About today's youth she stated, "They have a great deal more freedom than they did ten years ago and are more mature in some ways too."

Mrs. Kowalski listed sewing, crafts and bicycling as some of her favorite activities. She is a member of the Circleville Junior Women's Club and the Child Development League.

The new teacher hopes to continue teaching next year in the Circleville School System.

The greatest single item in the world's water budget, aside from the world ocean itself, is the Antarctic ice sheet. If melted at a suitable uniform rate it could feed the Mississippi's flow for 50,000 years.

Circleville Board Revises Policy On Extra-Curricular Activities

The Circleville Board of Education adopted a new policy Thursday night regarding the extra-curricular activities. The board has been criticized in the past because of its policy to suspend students from athletic activity for 40 days after they have been suspended from school.

With the new policy, the mandatory suspension from such activity will still be in force but it will be a lesser penalty for first offenders and will include other activities as well.

The new policy divides the school activities into uniform and non-uniform groups and establishes two activities boards as well as an athletic board. Guidelines for the establishment of these boards and membership is detailed in the board's revised policy.

A first offense of suspension from school will result in ten school days suspension from all extra-curricular activities except as a spectator or when admission is paid. A second suspension from school will result in a 60-day suspension from all extra-curricular activities.

A member will be prohibited from participation in such activities for a minimum period of 90 days for the following offenses: theft or accomplice in theft; use of possession of drugs or alcohol; rioting; assault; any felony.

The revised policy was made by a committee including two board members, members of the teaching staff and administrative staff of the school district. A lengthy discussion and a few more revisions preceded the adoption of the policy at the regular board meeting Thursday.

In other action, the board adopted 17 new textbooks for the 1975-76 school year.

Resignations were accepted from elementary teachers Kerrylin Hopewell and Julia Moore. John Lawhorn resigned as baseball coach and Carol Parker as cheerleader advisor.

The board employed the following: Sue Ann Bennett for an elementary position; Brenda Southward for an elementary position; Paul King as the high school instrumental music director.

All three women hired hold bachelor of science degrees from Ohio University. Ms. Southward has two years experience and the other two are beginning teachers.

King has five years training and holds a bachelor of music degree from Youngstown State University and has three years experience in the Beaver Local School District in Columbiana County.

Thomas Mounts was approved as a substitute custodian effective immediately and Bonnie Morrison was employed as needed as a part-time secretary in the child accountant's office.

For extra-curricular assignments, Paula Woodward was approved as assistant annual advisor and also as American Field Service Advisor for the high school. King was employed as stage band and band director.

Additions to the extra-curricular activities were made. The math club paying $165 was established with Janet Martin as its advisor. Dolores Julian was approved as the art club, another new club, advisor at the rate of $165. The American Field Service Advisorship was also an addition at the rate of $165.

The establishment of a Varsity C. Club will take the place of the former Stodge Club and the supplemental income for the advisor was approved at $200. No advisor has been assigned that position. Superintendent Fritz Jacobs told the board that the new club would be open to both boys and girls who had earned a varsity letter.

Along these same lines, the board voted to rescind an existing policy regulating the number of clubs in which any one student can participate. The new policy was adopted on a trial basis.

Dennis Stewart, Dave Angles, Don Poling and Ron Malone were approved as driver education instructors for the summer. Approximately 20 students will be assigned to each with approximately 160 hours of work each. The hourly rate was established at $6.50.

Four staff members were approved for extended service during the summer and four maintenance staff members were given supplemental contracts.

The board was advised that during the last meeting when the recommendations were made for multi-year contracts, the names of Floreen Heeter and Jerri Rapp were inadvertently omitted. Both were given two-year contracts. Thomas Cole, who filed additional training for 150 semester hours, was adjusted on the salary schedule accordingly.

Draperies, to be purchased by the Atwater Parent Teacher Boosters, were approved by the board. The cost from the Janson Industries of Canton was $988.

Painting bids for three of the district's school buildings were approved to be done by Chester Hill for a total of $1,840.

Remodeling of the principal's office at Atwater School was approved. The work is to be done by J. Boyd Stout Company for $692.

Insurance for teachers, students, non-teaching personnel and football players was approved to be offered by the Hummel and Plum Agency. Hummel and Plum were also approved for the renewal of the driver education car insurance.

In routine business, the board approved early dismissal on the last day of school, established a new activity account, and approved attendance of four staff members to professional meetings.

The superintendent was authorized to proceed with the Title I project for fiscal year 1976 with funds designated for the remedial reading program. The Title III participation for fiscal year 1975 was approved in the amount of $6660. The funds were designated for library improvement.

Mrs. Winifred Breegle and Mrs. Pauline Woodward spoke at the board meeting on their recent trips abroad with several students from the French and Latin Classes. Both teachers commended the students on their behavior and enthusiasm and thanked the board for making the initial approval to allow the two groups to go.

Mrs. Breegle and three other adults took 12 students to Italy. She told of the highlights of the trip which began with a tour of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Woodward and her aunt took 17 students to France.

A discussion was also held during the meeting on the American Field Service and the student the group is sponsoring to come to this community. The board appointed Mrs. Woodward as school advisor to the group because she was herself a student in France in the same program.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie will be the American parents to the boy who is coming here.

Mrs. Woodward and Mrs. Bowers explained the program to the board and advised that it was the largest and best organized group of its kind.

The student is really community-sponsored and attends school just as any other student. Foreign students do not get credit for the year spent here but rather has to either finish his high school or begin his college year when he returns to his native country.

The local AFS chapter has 12 active members and Bob Phillips is the liaison between the American family and the student.

The board meeting was adjourned until noon on May 28 at which time the summer school employment and classes will be considered.

Arrest Made In Tavern Break-In

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff filed charges of disposing stolen property against Allen Keith Sutton of New Holland and petit theft and breaking and entering against a 17-year-old New Holland youth involved in the break-in at Dutch's Tavern in that village.

In the offense report taken by Detective Don Thompson, the youth entered the tavern, located on Main Street in New Holland, sometime between May 4 and 6 taking antique tools, pistol, pocket knives, watch and change.

Sutton is presently appearing under a pre-sentence report for breaking and entering at a laundry in New Holland.

The items, valued at $115, were recovered excluding some of the money.

Sheriff Releases Relations Report

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff announced that Community Relations Officer Bill Dountz visited the Logan Elm High School Sew and Service Club discussing "Safety". "How the Community Can Benefit By Reporting Offenses" was the topic presented to the Pickaway County Farmer's Association held at the Wardell's Party House.

On May 5, Dountz gave a talk on "Bike Safety" to the Dandy Doodlers 4-H Club at the home of Mrs. James Schobe.

Thirty-four Saltcreek Twp. school students took a tour of the Pickaway County jail May 6 and observed the operation of a cruiser.

Dountz completed the week by giving a lecture Thursday on "Drugs" to 17 English students at the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocation School.

The HEW grants for the state totaled more than $1.4 million to serve about 1,400 Head Start children last year.

PICCA received $52,640 to serve 40 children.

Other grants went to:

—Community Action Commission of the Cincinnati area received $897,630 for its program serving 840 disadvantaged preschool children in Hamilton and Clermont counties.

The Public Investigator

The Investigator questioned utility companies in the Circleville and Pickaway County area concerning monetary increases to consumers of their specific product and the reason for the price increase. Here are answers furnished by the General Telephone Company of Ohio.

(Q) Approximately how many customers does General Telephone Company of Ohio service in Circleville and Pickaway County?

(A) According to the latest information available, we serve 7,395 customers in the Circleville exchange, 2,192 in Ashville, and 503 in Williamsport. The total is 10,090.

(Q) What are your present rates to individuals and how much have the rates increased in the past year? Six months? Three months?

(A) General Telephone exchanges in Circleville, Ashville, and Williamsport follow the Class III rate schedule for exchanges with 6,001 to 12,000 main stations. The current rates became effective Feb. 10, 1975. The only recent increase previous to that time was November, 1971.

Current rates for residential subscribers and the dollar amount of increase are: one party - $10.40, an increase of $2.50; two party - $9.40, an increase of $2.30; four party - $8.50, an increase of $2.30; multi party - $8.80, an increase of $2.35. Current rates for business phones and the dollar increase are: one party - $20.90, an increase of $5.75; two party - $18.75, an increase of $5.25; multi party - $17.95, an increase of $5.15. The rate changes are for monthly service and do not include long distance charges, which are extra.

(Q) Do you have any "extra" charges such as installation costs or deposits?

(A) Yes. There is a one-time charge for installation of new service ($25 for residential and $30 for business); a one-time charge for installation of an extension if done at a time other than initial installation ($15 for residential and business) and a service reconnection charge (if cut for non-payment) of $15 for residential and business customers.

A deposit is required for new customers who do not have a good established credit rating. The amount required is up to the discretion of the local office.

(Q) Why is there a raise in the cost to consumers? Do you expect to reach any ceiling in the selling price?

(A) Utilities face the same economic pressures as any other business. Inflation, the higher cost of labor, rising taxes, materials and virtually everything we use have increased considerably. As a telephone company, we cannot raise our rates at will to adjust to the increases experienced.

We must wait more than two years to get an increase approved by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

We are a victim of inflation, not a cause of it.

A further economic pressure introduced in recent years involves interconnection. This means non-telephone company firms can sell switchboards and equipment to business establishments. As a result, some of our prime customers are switching to interconnection facilities. Because interconnection companies are not regulated, as we are, they are not subject to the same regulations. They can limit their sales efforts to just lucrative accounts and ignore any others.

In our case, we are required by law to provide service to any and all who request it within our operating territory regardless of cost to us. The consequence likely will be higher rates for our customers.

As long as inflation remains and other costs of doing business increase, no ceiling will be reached.

(Q) What are your different payment plans and which one is the most popular with consumers in the area?

(A) We have no payment plans other than full amount due monthly. Telephone bills usually are of a size that payment plans are impractical.

(Q) Are you aware of any federal or state legislation to lower the rates of persons on fixed incomes? Does your company see any need for such legislation?

(A) HB 154, sponsored by C. J. McLin of Dayton, was introduced last January 23. It proposes a reduction in rates for persons aged 62 and over. The bill has been referred to committee.

The need for such legislation is questionable.

In our opinion, it is socialist in nature. If it were to be enacted, revenues lost would have to be made up somewhere else.

This means that persons under 62 would pay more to take up the slack.

(Q) Who may consumers contact with questions concerning billing procedures?

Violence Against U.S. Hits Laos; Vietnam Quiet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Laotian students protesting against rising prices and foreign economic domination hurled rocks at the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane today and tried to haul down the American flag.

A U.S. Marine guard snatched the flag from two students before it hit the ground and pro-Communist Pathet Lao and government police drove students back from the compound. No injuries were reported.

Meanwhile, Saigon radio reports said long distance buses and trains are beginning services in South Vietnam where for years flying was the only safe way to travel. Cambodia reported that it had begun a campaign to clean up "the stink and pungent smells left behind by the traitors," and to open its chief seaport, Kompong Som.

Associated Press correspondent

Peter O'Loughlin reported from Vientiane that the demonstration by more than 3,000 students and teachers began at the baroque Victory Monument a few blocks from the U.S. Embassy.

Students carrying placards saying "Yankee Go Home!" and "Cut the Throats of the Rightists!" paraded around the monument chanting "CIA Go Home." On their way to a rally at the national stadium the crowd detoured to pass the U.S. Embassy compound.

The crowd became more excited, rocks were thrown and an attempt was made to lower the flag.

However, the Pathet Lao police and a student leader sitting on top of the fence shouted for the demonstrators to move on and they obeyed, averting a potentially dangerous situation.

When the crowd had dispersed, a U.S. Marine hoisted a new flag to the top of the staff.

In another development, a Japanese report from Thailand said Soviet and East German diplomats were enraged with the Khmer Rouge who took over Phnom Penh three weeks ago.

The newspaper Yomiuri quoted a Japanese who came out Thursday in the second convoy of foreigners as saying that Khmer Rouge troops ordered 29 foreigners at the Soviet and East German embassies to move to the French embassy, and that four Soviet diplomats arrived there with slight injuries apparently sustained while resisting the Khmer Rouge.

A French doctor who served in Phnom Penh told a French television reporter that former Cambodian Premiers Sirik Matak and Long Boret were executed by a firing squad at the Sports Club opposite the Hotel Phnom. He also said Khmer Rouge forces slit the throats of 300 persons and raped French women.

The new regime in Saigon announced in a broadcast today that banknotes of the old government are legal tender but all other currencies, checks and gold are not, and it said an exchange center had been set up to replace closed banks.

The broadcast added that the new government had taken over the management of all foreign banks in the country.

South Vietnam's Liberation Radio, monitored in Bangkok, said buses are running between Hanoi and Saigon for the first time since the war began and demand is so great that the North Vietnamese transportation department is putting on more.

The first locomotive to pull out of Bien Hoa, 20 miles northeast of Saigon, on a commuter run to the capital was plastered with posters of Ho Chi Minh and carried 200 passengers, the radio said. Bien Hoa was heavily shelled in the last days of the war.

The Saigon military committee held a special meeting to lay down regulations for 718 buses running the 1,000-mile coastal route that was regularly chopped up by the Viet Cong before the war ended 10 days ago.

Ships plying the coastal route between Hanoi and Saigon now make the voyage in two days less than in wartime, the broadcast said.

Meanwhile, the Youth and Students Federation of Saigon appealed for more volunteers to provide security for the city, take part in revolutionary cultural programs and clean up the streets, a broadcast reported.

"The federation will not tolerate any henchman stands against its plans," the radio said.

The new authorities also organized an exhibition about Czechoslovakia in honor of the East European country's national day, Saigon radio reported, and it disclosed that East Germany's ambassador to Hanoi presented "material aid" to the new South Vietnamese regime in a ceremony Wednesday.

A Phnom Penh radio broadcast monitored in Bangkok said the armed forces and civilians were working enthusiastically to rebuild destroyed factories, plant crops and clean up the wreckage of war.

"We have started to build dikes and are getting the crops ready for this rainy season," the broadcast reported. It also said that ships were being repaired and that Kompong Som — known as Sihanoukville before the war — would be opened to traffic in the "near future."

Associated Press correspondent George Esper, who stayed in Saigon after the Viet Cong takeover April 30, reported Thursday how he saw history being made.

"I saw America's symbols torn down and shattered ... the United States Embassy looted not by the North Vietnamese but by the southerners ... an American flag lying in a gutter," he wrote.

"There were unbelievable, grotesque sights that I can see clearly days later: the U.S. military headquarters at Tan Son Nhut air base, later to become the defense attaché's office, the nerve center of U.S. military might, the 'Pentagon East' where so many generals had planned so many military operations. It now lay crumpled, gutted by flames, twisted like a toy house."

Fuel Adjustment Clause Necessary, Committee Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legislative committee was told Thursday that the controversial fuel adjustment clause is necessary for the survival of the state's electrical utilities.

Bruce Mansfield, retired chairman of the Ohio Edison Co., said without the adjustment clause, the utilities would not be able to recoup their own losses from higher fuel costs.

And a vice president of Standard and Poor's Corp., which serves much as a credit bureau for corporations, said lack of the fuel adjustment clause would be a blow to the utilities' credit rating because of the "potentially rapid deterioration which could occur."

The clause provides for a pass-through increase to customers for higher fuel costs.

"Most states, in view of the cost and shortage of talent in the regulatory arena, have used the automatic cost of fuel adjustment clause as a necessary evil," said H. Russell Fraser, vice president in charge of corporate finance for Standard and Poor's.

"Management and regulators both agree this method leaves a lot to be desired, but to date it remains the most efficient system devised by man..."

"I would have to say a fuel cost adjustment clause with as little lag time as possible is a necessity unless some other more desirable quick and efficient method could be created," he said.

Mansfield told the committee that the clauses "are legal, proper and further they, or an equally effective substitute, are absolutely necessary for our continued survival."

Mansfield, testifying on behalf of the state's seven major electric utilities, told the committee that skyrocketing utility rates correspond directly to what utilities must pay for their fuel.

"The cost of fuel to most of the Ohio electric utilities represents well over 50 per cent of total operating expenses," Mansfield said.

He said in 1974, the state's seven major electrical utilities spent $875 million on fuel, amounting to 46 per cent of revenues. He said fuel cost 20 per cent of revenues in 1950.

He said even with the fuel adjustment clause, the utilities incurred $62 million in fuel costs that weren't reimbursed due to the time lag between the fuel cost hike and the fuel adjustment hike. But he admitted that $62 million likely will show up in the firms' next rate hike requests.

In response to questioning, Mansfield said utilities are aware their rates are becoming too high for the average citizen to afford.

"The things you're talking about are the things that have been keeping utility chief executives awake nights the last couple of years," he said. "The problems you have mentioned are real ones, and they have the companies worried sick."

Both men testified before the General Assembly's Select Joint Committee on Energy. The committee is investigating the availability and price of energy.

Indochinese Military Men In Training Pose Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 530 Cambodian and South Vietnamese military men continue to receive training at U.S. bases and service schools even though their armies, navies and air forces are no more.

"For the moment, it's the least disruptive action we can take," a Pentagon spokesman said, noting that the Indochinese are integrated into training with military students from the United States and other nations.

A few of the 300 Cambodian and 230 South Vietnamese officers and enlisted men have indicated a wish to return to their homelands, officials said. But the U.S. government has not yet decided how this problem will be handled.

"We're not going to keep anybody here against his will," one official said.

"Current plans call for them to remain where they are presently located until their future status can be determined," the Pentagon spokesman said.

A small number have dependents with them, the Pentagon said.

Their cases are currently under study by the Defense Department and an interagency task force considering the problems of resettling South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees.

Officials said it is conceivable that some of the Indochinese military students might want to join the U.S. armed services.

Current law specifies that "in time of peace, no person may be accepted for original enlistment in the Army (or Air Force) unless he is a citizen of the United States or has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence."

There is no such legal bar to enlistment of aliens such as the South Vietnamese and Cambodians in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps, but there are limiting regulations.

The Pentagon said the 530 Cambodian and South Vietnamese military men currently are at about 50 installations around the United States.

No full list was available, but some of these include the Army's Ft. Benning, Ga., an infantry center; Ft. Sill, Okla., an Army artillery training post; Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.; the Naval Amphibious Base, Coronado, Calif.; and the International Officer Training School run by the Navy at Newport, R.I.

Auto Price Increases Coming

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. says it will raise car prices around 3 to 6 per cent this fall, making it the last of the Big Three auto makers to announce price increases and the first to indicate how big the hikes may be.

General Motors and Chrysler said last week that price increases are unavoidable because of continued cost increases. Neither, however, would indicate the size of the price boosts.

American Motors has not said it will raise prices, but the company is expected to follow the pricing trend of its larger competitors.

Meanwhile, GM confirmed Thursday that its Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) fund has run dry, cutting in half jobless pay for 55,000 laid-off production workers.

GM said the last batch of SUB checks went out in the mail this week. The auto giant said it did not know when it would be able to resume payments, which were exhausted by extensive, long-term layoffs.

Ford President Lee Iacocca estimated during a news conference Thursday that the firm's car prices would rise roughly from 3 to 6 per cent, or an average $150 to $300 per car.

"Three to five, six per cent — that's the ballpark we hope to play in," Iacocca said. "But we may be off $200."

"We can't operate without a price increase," Ford Chairman Henry Ford II said Thursday following the company's annual shareholders' meeting in suburban Dearborn. He said final pricing decisions have not yet been made.

Ford said he hoped the price increases would not discourage sales. He conceded the record $450 price hike the industry put through on 1975 models last fall helped throw car sales into their worst slump since World War II.

Financial analysts say the companies may try to limit increases to about $150 so as not to further stall an already weak market.

GM is the second auto company to exhaust its SUB fund because of massive layoffs dating back more than a year. Chrysler's fund for 35,000 laid off workers ran out April 1.

SUB funds at Ford and AMC, where layoffs have been less extensive, remain in "relatively healthy" shape, according to the United Auto Workers, which negotiated for SUB 20 years ago.

The average laid-off GM worker had been living on $176 a week, about 95 per cent of his take-home pay. About $92 came from the SUB fund. Most continue to receive an average $84 a week in government unemployment compensation.

The exhaustion of SUB is expected to be especially harsh on auto towns like Flint, where GM owns seven major plants — including its Buick factory — and had been paying about $3 million a month in SUB benefits.

GM has paid out $400 million in SUB payments since January 1974. In Michigan, where GM estimated 24,400 workers will lose SUB, the company said it has paid out $178 million.

Ohio Budget Showdown Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats have come up with their versions of key state budget and school aid measures, setting the stage for Monday and what shapes up as one of the most crucial weeks of the 1975 legislative session.

The House Finance-Appropriations Committee recommended 13-8 along party lines late Thursday a widely revamped bill to finance state operations at a cost of about $10.7 billion, in the two-year bookkeeping period that starts July 1. It is slated for a House floor vote Tuesday.

At the same time, a Senate Education and Welfare subcommittee made more than two dozen amendments to a new "equal yield" school aid distribution bill. Chairman M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, said it will be placed before the full committee at a Monday night meeting.

Minority Republicans in both chambers have had little chance so far — nor has GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes — to exert much influence on either high priority proposal.

However, the school bill, inspired by a lengthy study of the legislature's Education Review Committee, is expected to receive more nonpartisan consideration than the budget.

The Senate resumes floor sessions at 4 p.m. Monday, the House at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Before the lawmakers adjourned for the weekend, the House approved and sent to the Senate, without dissent, a pair of bills aimed at alleviating at least some long range energy and economic problems.

Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, won approval of a bill to expand the authority of the Ohio Water Development Authority so it can issue revenue bonds and make loans for development of solid waste facilities. His bill would permit steam and electricity generated by burning solid wastes to be sold to the general public, Cook explained.

Amy Curtiss Selected In The Know All Star

Amy Curtiss, a veteran member of the In The Know Team at Circleville High School, was notified that she will be a member of the In The Know All Stars. Four teams of four members and two alternates each were selected from geographic regions in Ohio to be distinguished for their outstanding qualities as In The Know players.

AMY CURTISS

Miss Curtiss was an alternate on the CHS team during her sophomore year and was a member of the varsity team the past two years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Curtiss, 505 Lawnwood Court.

A group of In The Know advisors representing the Central Ohio area met with Hunt Carlie, emcee for the program, and John Mullin, producer of the program, to select the 16 all stars and eight alternates.

The four teams will meet in competition which will be broadcast live from the Ohio State Fair in August. After the initial rounds, the teams will again meet in a consolation round and then the two winning teams will meet in a championship round.

Those students selected for the all star team will be honored on the In The Know's "Hour of Victory" award presentation program.

Mrs. Carol Mader, advisor for the CHS In The Know team, said that this was the first year for the program's all star recognition. Initiated this year, it will be an annual project in conjunction with the Channel 10 program.

Circleville High School has participated in the program's competition since 1967. Wallace Higgins is the other team advisor.

Other team members who participated on CHS's team this year are Gloria Alvarez, Mike Johnson, and Matt Sauer. Alternates are Arthur Whitfield, Suzanne Herel, Dan Smith and David Uland.

Wallace Blasts Foreign Policy

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace says the United States "has blundered in the last 50 years in its foreign policy." He says the result was American involvement in four wars which could have been prevented.

Wallace called a news conference to discuss his foreign policy after a story was published Thursday based on transcripts of an interview the governor had with foreign journalists.

In that interview, Wallace said if he were president, his foreign policy would be "based on the fact that you can't trust a Communist."

Wallace, who has said he plans to run for president, told the journalists in an interview at the state capitol March 3, "I don't believe in confrontation. I believe in negotiation. I believe in detente. But while I'm detente, as they say, I wouldn't turn my back on them. And I don't trust the Communists."

Top Officials Plan Use For Rebates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to invest his in savings bonds.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns is going to buy something for his wife.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., will repay some of the money he had to borrow to pay his income taxes.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., will let their wives spend theirs.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., probably will put his into the bank or into yard work.

And Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Robert Dole, R-Kan., haven't decided.

Those were some of the responses from government officials who were asked how they planned to spend their tax rebate checks.

In coming weeks, the government will send checks of up to $200 to each of the nation's taxpayers, refunding a total of more than $8 billion.

President Ford proposed the rebates earlier this year as a way of putting more money into the economy and helping end the current recession.

The first checks, dated today, were mailed Wednesday and Thursday and should start showing up in mail boxes within a day or two.

A spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service said approximately 13.7 million checks are being mailed in the first week and that all of an estimated 78 million rebate checks will be sent by June 15.

The IRS said rebates will be mailed more or less in the order in which taxpayers filed their 1974 returns, with persons who filed their returns early receiving the first checks.

Basically, taxpayers will receive 10 per cent of the amount they paid in 1974 income taxes up to a maximum of $200. However, taxpayers who paid at least $100 in taxes would receive a rebate of at least $100, even if that would be more than 10 per cent of their tax bill. Thus, a person who paid $500 in taxes will receive a $100 rebate, not $50.

Persons who paid less than $100 in taxes will get all of their taxes back, but no more.

There is another limitation. Persons whose gross income in 1974 was $20,000 and who paid at least $2,000 in taxes will receive the maximum $200.

But the rebate gets smaller as income rises above $20,000, with persons

State Payments For Court Fees Said Exorbitant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State payments for lawyer fees and court costs involving indigents will total $4.3 million by the end of June for the biennium, predicts Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Ferguson said this is an increase of $300,000 over earlier estimates.

"The common pleas court judges are authorizing what we consider exorbitant fees for defense counsel in many of these cases," Ferguson said.

As an example of high costs, Ferguson said one person was charged with two counts of murder. The total cost to taxpayers for the case was $53,000, some $43,000 for two attorneys for the convicted person, he said.

Older Americans Serve As Peace Corps Volunteers

Today, Americans older than 60 are actively defying the unflattering stereotypes of their age through participation in all types of rewarding occupations.

About 400 of them are spending a part of their "golden years" in a challenging pursuit popularly thought reserved only for the young — service in the Peace Corps.

The Peace Corps is part of ACTION, the federal agency for volunteer service. A look at the Peace Corps shows men and women in their 50's, 60's and 70's giving dedicated service to needy people in Asia, Africa and Latin America. They are among the 7,300 Peace Corps volunteers and trainees serving in 68 developing nations around the world.

With one career behind them, ACTION's older Peace Corps volunteers are seeking new horizons, where their skills are challenged by a new culture, a foreign language and a different lifestyle. In the Peace Corps, the experienced and mature person is very much in demand.

The trend for the Peace Corps to seek the skills and experience of older Americans is continuing. ACTION's domestic volunteer programs also offer opportunities for senior citizens with useful skills to share.

ACTION's domestic programs include Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), Foster Grandparent Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), Active Corps of Executives (ACE), Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Senior Companion Program, ACTION Cooperative Volunteers and University Year for ACTION.

Persons interested in ACTION programs may call 800-424-8580 toll free for more information.

Van Johnson Stars At Playhouse

VAN JOHNSON
Van Johnson is the current attraction at the Country Dinner Playhouse in Reynoldsburg but the real star of "Boeing Boeing" is lesser-known Bob Moak. Moak is not a newcomer to the stage. He has played summer stock for the past 20 years and has toured with Johnson for three years in "There's A Girl In My Soup". Another star attraction in the rip-roaring comedy is Helena Humann who plays playboy Van's maid. The hilarity of the actual lines and the adlibbing she and Moak do in the play, are nothing short of smashing. The story is of a man-around-town who has three air hostesses convinced that each is his one and only. All runs smoothly until the fast jets take over and the girls all arrive "home" at one time.

Disrupted Market

The food cycle has made a full turn again in western Europe. This time it is food surpluses which plague farmers and economic ministers alike. Beef, butter, eggs and wine are among the foods in abundance, but the paradox is that many of the consumers in the Common Market are eating less of them because of high prices.

Few parts of the tightly controlled agriculture market

within the Common Market seem to be working. Although prices of many commodities are at record highs, farmers are complaining they cannot make ends meet and consumers say they cannot afford the prices.

Price supports and other subsidies paid the farmers have produced large surpluses, but rising inflation has meant a shrinking market for many of the goods. The idea of a totally managed market seems to be producing a badly mismanaged economy.

Americans have experienced similar results when heavy controls are placed on agriculture. Simple barter as when a producer sells directly to a consumer may have its inequities, but the farther from the direct exchange one goes the more disorganized the market becomes.

Wonder Of Wonders

By JIM BISHOP

Your brain is gray and pink. It weighs about three pounds and looks like a shelled walnut. It fits tightly inside your skull and uses 10 billion nerve cells, more message centers than the most complex computer. The servant of the brain is the body.

It can order you to feel, smell, taste, hear, speak, see — its autonomic center can even order you to scratch an itch in your sleep, or to cough when your throat tickles.

Although it weighs less than a melon, it has greater power than the biggest planet, the brightest star. It can take an assortment of facts and reach a conclusion. It can be atavistic and instinctive, fearing fire and falling from great heights.

It reserves part of itself as a great storehouse for memories and experiences. Exactly 100 years ago, Wilhelm Wundt, a physiologist and psychologist at the University of Leipzig, discovered that the brain had a psychological aspect which conditioned it to fear, to love, to hate, to be aggressive or passive.

Without the brain, the body is useless. The mind uses a thick stem leading down through the back of the skull to the spinal cord. There, through bundles of nerves, it can order a solitary finger to be moistened on a tongue which it orders to extend itself, and a man can hold it aloft to detect the direction of the wind.

When the body sleeps, the brain remains awake, dreaming confused thoughts and images. Metabolism slows, the heart, lungs and other organs move at reduced speed as they regenerate themselves.

The most important aspect of the brain is consciousness. Apply a general anesthetic and it lapses into unconsciousness, unable to detect or to order the body to feel pain or enjoy. Without consciousness, the human being does not know that there is a universe, or even himself. He knows not that he does not know.

The nerve cells from brain to spine are complex and multitudinous. The wish, for example, to scratch one's nose may run down several bundles of one-way nerves at speeds up to 200 miles per hour. The brain must be aware of the nose itch and order shoulder, arm and fingers to move in the right direction, while, at the same time, another part of the mind will be listening intelligently to a phone call, or watching television.

Sometimes the brain will capture the man, magnifying his problems (especially in the late hours) and automatically demand that he dwell upon them. The difference between the mind of man and the brain of the animal is that the first has initiative, the second works by instinct.

Conversely, any animal — except man — can fend for itself and survive at the age of five. Man cannot. He will weep and drench himself with self-pity but a three-month old kitten will find food and water. To remain conscious, the human brain requires 25 per cent of all the blood's oxygen and a large amount of sugar. Cutting off the supply of either one reduces the human to unconsciousness. Too much oxygen, or too much sugar, will have the same effect. An interruption of nourishment for four short minutes induces irreversible brain damage or death. It is fed by four main arteries, which have an intricate system of cross-

House Speeds Refugees Aid Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's emergency aid request to help up to 150,000 Indochina refugees start new lives is on an accelerated timetable for House action next week, following unanimous subcommittee approval.

The House immigration subcommittee approved the bill Wednesday night after Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., took the extraordinary step of publicly telling the subcommittee to get moving.

"When this country forgets its immigrant heritage and turns its back on the homeless, we will indeed have written finis to the American dream," Rodino said.

The House foreign operations appropriations subcommittee scheduled hearings today on the measure. No Senate action has been scheduled.

There is no money figure in the bill but authorizes such sums as may be necessary. Ford's advisers estimate the programs which it includes would cost $507 million.

Actual money would have to be appropriated in a separate action and members of the President's Indochina task force said they need that appropriation quickly to keep the refugee airlift operating.

An amendment by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., to write a $507-million limit into the bill was rejected 4 to 3. She said she did not seek to limit the money for the refugees but wanted to require that any spending over $507 million get new approval from Congress.

James M. Wilson, deputy director of the task force, testified that $85.6 million of the $98 million the administration already has for refugees has been spent and the rest will be obligated by the weekend.

He said there is no danger of a cutoff of food and other needs of the refugees, but the airlifts would have to be curtailed, causing overcrowding on Guam and Wake islands and forcing hundreds of refugees to remain on board ships headed for those islands.

feeding, so that if any two are blocked, the remaining two will assume the full burden of unremitting nourishment. This wonder of all wonders is encased tightly by a see-through envelope called dura mater ("hard mother").

The mind inside controls 31 pairs of great spinal nerves which take orders to smaller nerves leading laterally from the spine to tiny sensory nerves at the tips of toes, top of scalp, fingertips. Nerves, sensory, motor or autonomic, are all one-way circuits.

The sensories feel; the motor causes movement; the autonomic control breathing, heart rate and circulation while the perons sleeps. In an emergency, or fear, the autonomic system will order a faster heartbeat, a constriction of involuntary muscles and demand an increase in glandular output, including the adrenals.

The brain has an infinite capacity to learn to exercise judgment. It has three means of absorbing knowledge: by rote (teaching); by experience; by reading. Of the three, reading surpasses all other means of comprehension, understanding and sympathetic understanding.

Your three-pound brain is its own universe. Without it, there is nothing but darkness...

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The president-elect of the American Bankers Association thinks the average family no longer can afford to buy the average single-family house. It costs too much to buy and maintain, he says.

"We've been pushing the limit for years, but recent events have pushed housing costs over the edge relative to the average man's ability to buy," said J. Rex Duwe in an interview.

The figures tend to bear out the assessment of Duwe, a Lucas, Kan., banker who this October takes over the reins of the 100-year-old association of commercial banks, a group that has 12.5 per cent of its loans in home mortgages.

Government figures, he said, showed that in 1973 the average family headed by a man had a median family income of about $13,000, and the average family headed by a woman had an income of about $5,800.

Statistics also show, he said, that the median sale price of a new, one-family home, excluding mobile homes, was $32,800 in the same year.

"Using the rule of thumb that you shouldn't spend more than 2½ times your annual income on a house, the average household headed by a man could spend $32,500 for a home; a household headed by a woman, about $14,500."

Duwe concedes that rules of thumb make good pointers but poor measuring sticks. They lead you in the general direction of the truth but they're too imprecise to measure it exactly. Nevertheless, his point is made.

"The consumer price index already shows that one-third of every dollar we take home is going to housing," Duwe said in a much-discussed speech at a real estate conference in Denver last week.

"How much more can we afford?" he asked.

Duwe had his reasons for discussing housing costs. "I've become tired of interest rates being the whipping boy for the housing problem," he said. "I'm weary of hearing in Congress and the media that interest rates are the total villain. It isn't so."

He had a secondary reason also. It's about time, he suggested, that the American people re-examine the type of housing they want — and can afford.

French and Portuguese fishermen were catching and curing fish along the Nova Scotian coasts early in the 16th century, National Geographic says. There may have been a Portuguese fisherman's village on Cape Breton Island as early as 1521 — 99 years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Mr. P. W., N.Y.

Dear Mr. W.:

Where are you? You are on your way to better control of your stomach ulcer if you take the advice seriously.

Psychological stress is one of the important factors in the cause and perpetuation of stomach ulcers. There are many other reasons, perhaps more important, for the irritation of the lining of the stomach leading to ulcers. Alcohol, tobacco, dietary indiscretions and excessive amounts of coffee and tea are some of the other major reasons for the onset of ulcers of the stomach and the duodenum.

I recall a very dramatic series of scientific studies performed at the University of Oklahoma Medical School. It was shown that nicotine in the blood stream interferes with secretions from the pancreas and the gall bladder that normally buffer excess acid in the stomach.

It is easy to understand why alcohol would irritate a stomach ulcer. Can you imagine how much pain alcohol would cause if it were applied directly to an open wound on the skin? Surely, it wouldn't be helpful in healing it.

A reorientation of your patterns of living can, with some tranquilizing drugs, reduce your tensions.

The absence of tobacco and alcohol will allow your ulcer to heal. The physical and emotional benefits will compensate for your loss of alcohol and tobacco.

My eyelashes seem to turn in and irritate my eyes. My eyes are constantly red and painful. Can anything be done about this?

Miss L. L., Neb.

Dear Miss L.:

The condition you describe is known as "trichiasis." There are no known reasons why this occasionally occurs in some people.

Eye doctors suggest that the curved eyelash be gently plucked out. In most instances, this is sufficient.

Sometimes, the lash grows out again with the same curvature. Then it may be necessary to destroy the root of the offending hair cell by electrolysis.

Both the plucking and the electrolysis should be done by an eye doctor. With a local anesthetic, it is not painful.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Pickaway county trustees of the Scioto Society Inc. met recently to discuss plans for a work day in the amphitheatre and grounds in preparation for the arrival of the cast and crew of Tecumseh. The event will be called A Day on Sugar Loaf Mountain and will occur on Saturday, May 17.

Mr. Stuart Withers of Chillicothe, chairman of the Grounds Committee, will co-ordinate the efforts of the volunteer force. Newell Stevenson is the Pickaway county member of this committee.

The trustees hope that this will be an opportunity for Boy Scout troops, 4-H clubs and interested adults to perform a community service by donating a day or part of a day to the Society. There is much work to be done—from heavy shoveling and leveling to picking up sticks and debris.

Volunteers will be welcomed from 9 a.m. at the amphitheatre, which may be reached by driving south on Route 23 and turning left on Delano road opposite the outdoor theatre north of Chillicothe. Society trustees are furnishing lunch for the workers.

Please call Mrs. Roger May at 474-3527 or Mrs. David Yates at 474-2035 if a sizeable group plans to attend, so that the committee will have some idea of how much food to prepare.

Local support would be most appreciated. Several dozen willing volunteers could accomplish a great deal of very vital work. Rakes, hoes and shovels will be welcome also.

The Society can promise an incomparable setting in which to spend a beautiful spring day. The success of the event, however, depends upon the participants.

Vacation Closings Readied By Ford

DETROIT (AP) — Virtually all of Ford Motor Co.'s manufacturing employees will be on vacation for two to three weeks in July as the auto maker takes the unprecedented step of closing all 64 plants.

Ford said Wednesday it will be the first time it has closed all its plants at virtually the same time. A company spokesman said the unusual action is being taken because the slow market for autos won't require steady production through the end of the model year.

The plants will be closed later in the year — though probably not at the same time — to tool up for 1976 models.

On Books And Activities At The Library

If you're planning to see "Tumseh" this year and are interested in reading some background material before you visit the outdoor drama, we'd like to suggest that you visit the Pickaway County District Public Library NOW. That material circulates widely during the summer months and you do your reading early.

May is a busy month but be sure to save time for reading. Lots of good new titles are in this week. Gardens and plants are popular topics this time of year. For a delightful and informative book on the subject, try "I Never Met A Plant I Didn't Like" by Jerry Baker. Many of his ideas can be adapted to outside gardening.

For the "horsey set," "Big Red Of Meadow Stable" by William Mack is a look inside at the world of horse racing in general, and the training of the champion, Secretariat, in particular.

Before you attend the Welk concert this month, be sure to pick up "Ah-Oh, Ah-Too" by Lawrence Welk. It's the story of his musical family.

Two other well-known names in the entertainment world are subjects of biographies. "Tallulah, Darling Of The Gods" by Kieran Tunney is the story of the throaty Miss Bankhead while "Speak To Me, Dance With Me" by Agnes de Mille is the personal story of the famous dancer-choreographer.

Several of the astronauts have written about their space missions. "Carrying The Fire" by Michael Collins is done with touches of humor to relieve the drama of the adventure.

"Alexander Dolgun's Story" by Dolgun and Watson is the story of an American in the Gulag. At age 22, the author was made a prisoner of the Russian MGB and was held for 24 years. He was finally allowed to leave Russia in 1971.

The true story of a man's courageous mission during WW II is the work of James Leasor. The success of the landing at Dieppe hinged on the do-or-die efforts of a volunteer. Drama and history is combined in "Green Beach."

For devotees of English history, "Cromwell" by Antonia Fraser is a well-written, authoritative biography of the Lord Protector of England.

"Long Live Columbus" by Harry Golden is a marvelous collection of wit, philosophy, and commentary on persons, places, and things.

Mental depression, its causes and treatments, is discussed by Dr. Nathan S. Kline in "From Sad To Glad."

A new Catherine Cookson novel, "A Grand Man" introduces a spunky eight-year-old heroine called Mary Ann and her efforts to bring about a better life for the family of her n'er-do-well father.

Romantic suspense in 19th Century Boston is the theme of "The Medici Ring" by Nicole St. John.

Psychological suspense and romance fills the story of Julia Rivers in Jane Aiken Hodge's new book entitled "One Way To Venice."

A new police thriller involving murder in San Francisco is "After Shock" by Collin Wilcox.

"The Mote In God's Eye" is a major science fiction novel by Larry Niven and Jerry Pournell. It is placed far into the future and presents a new approach to the problem of contact with aliens from the unknown world.

"Far Tortuga" is a novel of the sea by Peter Matthiessen. It's the story of a turtling boat from the West Indies and the men who sail on her. It's written in an unusual poetic style.

For the readers of the light Avalon romances, several new titles are included in this week's new books.

Enjoy the merry month of May with a good book from your local library.

The posh new $26 million outlay at Salt Fork near Cambridge, "where it takes three years to get a reservation," is his prime example.

"I don't know anyone who can get one," Meshel said, smiling.

He was incensed when the department asked the State Controlling Board to release $131,000 to build an asphalt path for golf carts over the sprawling park's $1 million golf course.

Despite an admonition by Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, that the course's steep slopes could cause "a lot of coronaries," Meshel got the board to turn down the request by a 4-3 vote.

He had support from Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-38 Dayton, who allowed that people on the verge of heart attacks "are going to have them anyway."

Meshel said that while Salt Fork is "absolutely beautiful, I wouldn't vote to spend another quarter over there."

"The parks ought to be affordable, and serve the vast majority of taxpayers," the Youngstown lawmaker said.

A bill to protect the sale of pure honey from misrepresented imitations bearing honey labels sailed through the Ohio House after Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, explained the role of the honeybee in pollinating Ohio's crops.

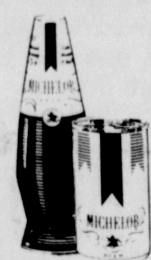

Locker said Ohio's more than 9,000 honeybee keepers would quit the business if they couldn't sell the end product. Almost every fruit tree and those crops that grow on vines have to be pollinated. After the wide use of pesticides, he said, the honeybee is about the only insect left to do the job.

Locker said the honeybee was so important that some Ohio farmers even rent them.

"But, don't ask me how to go about renting a honeybee," the 44-year-old school teacher said.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, House minority leader who served three terms as speaker from 1966 through 1972, is accustomed to finding himself quoted in Ohio's newspapers.

But he expressed himself as puzzled as well as amused when he saw a reporter's account of how he "fumed" over passage of a bill by opposition Democrats.

MICHELOB

"I didn't even speak against the bill on the floor," he said. "I made a statement in opposition later. Was that fuming?"

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q) World War II veterans who never used their GI Home Loan benefits are still eligible. How about school benefits?

(A) The Veterans Administration can provide educational benefits only for eligible veterans discharged after January 31, 1955. These educational benefits expire 10 years after date of discharge or May 31, 1974, whichever is later.

(Q) I've been having trouble lately with a stomach condition that developed during military service. I've been out of the service three years, and wonder if I can still apply for disability compensation from the Veterans Administration?

(A) Yes. There is no deadline for filing a claim for a service connected disability.

(Q) I know a veteran's widow who draws death pension from the Veterans Administration and lives in a nursing home. Is she eligible for additional benefits if she is in need of regular aid and attendance?

(A) Yes. She would be entitled to an additional special monthly pension of $64 if she draws benefits under the new pension law.

(Q) Can a veteran enrolled in a GI Bill training program other than a college course still get the VA tutoring payment?

(A) Only College trainees are eligible for tutorial assistance. A veteran must be enrolled half-time or more and have a deficiency in a subject required in an approved program of education. Payment cannot be more than $50 in any month, up to a maximum of $450.

(Q) I am a disabled World War II veteran and get monthly VA disability compensation. I will soon become eligible for Social Security benefits. Will VA reduce my compensation when I start collecting Social Security?

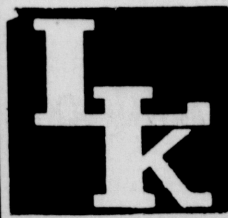

(A) No. VA does not count any income against compensation for service connected disabilities, including Social Security payments. However, income (including Social Security) is counted in determining pensions of veterans with non service connected disabilities.

First Metric Encyclopedia

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1975 edition of the World Book Encyclopedia gives both the customary or English and metric measurements throughout the text.

"In most cases where a measurement appears in an article," explains Dr. William Nault, editorial director, "World Book gives the customary English measurement with the metric equivalent in parentheses. This required the conversion of more than 30,000 measurements and an outlay of more than $2 million."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Won't Show His Hand

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice young man at a church fellowship affair for singles. Clyde had good manners and dressed well, and although he was on the quiet side I managed to make enough conversation with him so that he asked to see me again.

We saw each other a few times and seemed to hit it off well. But there is one problem: Clyde doesn't like to shake hands with anybody. In fact, he even asked me not to take him any place where he would have to shake hands.

I noticed that when Clyde was introduced to another man, he kept his hands in his pockets and said, "Pleased to meet you." The other fellow looked a little embarrassed because he was all set to shake hands with Clyde.

Does Clyde have a problem? Or am I making too much out of this?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Clyde has a problem. It's probably an obsession with "germs"—imagined or real. In a society where handshaking is customary, refusing to shake hands could be considered unfriendly or even insulting.

Clyde would be well advised to talk to a professional about it. And I hope he does.

DEAR ABBY: A while back, a lady wrote and told you that she didn't like the way her daughter-in-law kept house. You told the mother not to say anything since it was not her house.

Does this hold true for the marriage problems of one's married children? I say, the parents should stay out of their kids' domestic squabbles even though they want to help.

Am I right or wrong?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You're right! The last person to mediate a family fight is a member of that family.

DEAR ABBY: We desperately need your help and advice on a very serious matter.

Our daughter who is only 14 (I will call her "Mary") is pregnant. What we are going through right now is unbelievably trying. Our gynecologist has been a tremendous help. He has suggested terminating the pregnancy. My husband and I agree that this is the best solution. So does Mary. (Thank God she told us in time!)

Our problem is that the doctor has suggested that when this is all over we should put our Mary on birth-control pills.

My husband feels that if we do, Mary will feel free to have sex whenever the opportunity arises. We certainly do not want this.

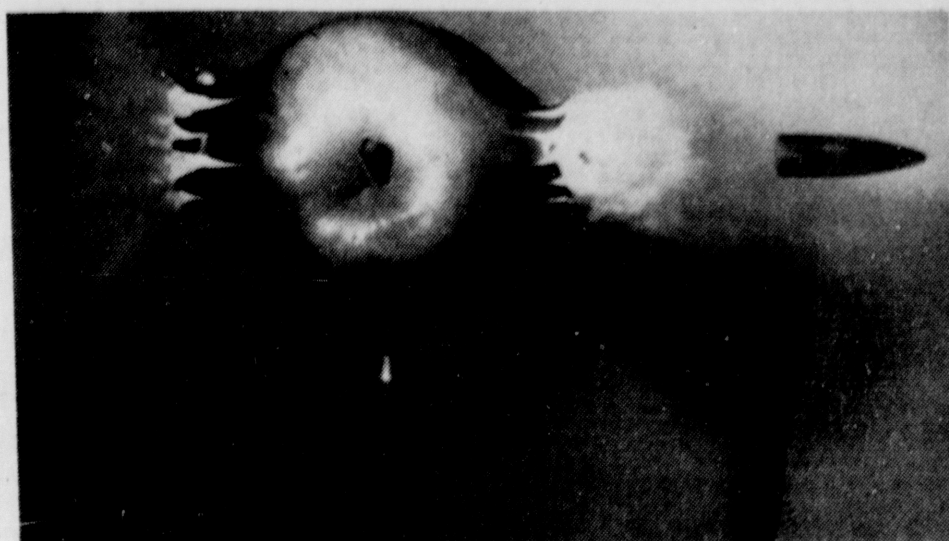

Speaking as her mother, I never want to have to go through this again. Mary says that she has learned her lesson and that she will never get in a spot like this again. But how can we be sure?

What are your views on the subject, Abby? And what have other parents done when they have had to make such a decision?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I agree with the doctor. I would also provide Mary with counseling. (Your Planned Parenthood offers excellent help in this area.) Good luck.

BULLET BURSTS APPLE—A .30 calibre rifle bullet, traveling at 2,800 feet per second blasts through an apple at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Harold E. Edgerton made this stroboscopic photograph that had an exposure of one three-millionth of a second to catch the bullet in flight and the apple before it disintegrated.

A good umbrella keeps you dry—unless the wind starts blowing. In this case, you are bound to get soaking wet!

There is really no such thing as total protection; neither in an umbrella nor in living through just one day. There are all sorts of windstorms, and they sweep into our lives and upset the best made plans. When this happens there is no such thing as finding an umbrella under which to hide.

Since life is so complicated, each of us has to learn to face it in his own way. Those with a strong and unshakable faith are the lucky ones. They have gained a sense of proportion and basic values through their church. And they didn't just "get" faith! They had to start looking for it. YOU do, too. And where? In church, of course!

TOTAL PROTECTION

Woman Wins $300,000; Eyes Hawaii

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— This week's Ohio lottery drawing may have spawned a beach bum.
Donna Barnett, 47, of Warren, who won top prize of $300,000, said before the eliminations began that if she won she wanted to go to Hawaii with her husband, soak up the sun "and be a beach bum."

"I'm still numb" she said after winning. "I'm awfully happy."

The Barnetts received a trip to Hawaii as a 25th wedding anniversary present from their children three years ago.

Linda Gutfranski of Parma won $60,000 after cutting ceramics class to attend the drawing. She said her husband makes the big money decisions in the family but added, "I think we'll pay off the mortgage."
Third prize of $30,000 went to Blanche Frederick of Toledo.

Merlin "Red" Wellman of Huntington, the fifth player, was the fifth eliminated, missing third prize by one place. Before the eliminations, he said he talked to last week's $60,000 winner from West Virginia, Clifford Hancock, and was told "just how to win."

Sohio Plans Land Transit Of Petroleum

SEATTLE (AP) — The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio announced Thursday it has decided against a supertanker terminal and oil pipeline on Puget Sound and instead will ship Alaskan oil to the Midwest from the Los Angeles-Long Beach area.

The Cleveland-based company said the oil would be shipped from California ports through a 1,000-mile pipeline, including 700 miles of natural gas pipeline already in place.

Sohio owns a majority of the oil reserves at Alaska's Prudhoe Bay. Its plans are for a pipeline that ultimately would carry one million barrels a day of oil to the Midwest.

The plan, announced in Los Angeles and Seattle, would make use of El Paso Natural Gas pipeline from the California-Arizona border to Midland, in west Texas, a distance of about 700 miles.

The additional 350 miles of pipeline would be primarily within California, with some pipeline needed in other areas for connections with existing pipelines.

The pipeline, when completed in early 1978, would have a 500,000 barrel-per-day capacity. Its ultimate capacity could be twice that, a spokesman said.

Parents Thrilled With Quintuplets

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Mark and Pamela Levy are thrilled at the idea of being the parents of quintuplets, but they'd just as soon it didn't happen again.

"I look in the nursery at all those babies and I can't believe that we did it," said Mrs. Levy Thursday at a press conference. "It's a miracle."

When someone asked her during a news conference whether they planned to have any more children after beginning her family so auspiciously, Mrs. Levy was less enthusiastic.

"We've got enough to keep us busy for awhile," she laughed.

Right now, both parents and quints are caught up in a whirl of publicity

Set Honor For Nessen

Nessen is to deliver the commencement address.

Heidelberg President Leslie Fishel Jr. said he also would present honorary doctorates to Herman Ahrens, editor of "Youth" magazine, and the Rev. William Huenemann, pastor of First United Church of Christ of New Philadelphia, Ohio.

Nessen has been press secretary since last September. Before accepting the White House post, he had been an NBC correspondent in Washington since 1962.

Plant Fire Indictment Rewritten

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A federal grand jury Thursday issued a revised indictment against ten men accused of the March 1 fire bombing of a Shelton factory.

No new names were added and no major changes in charges were made, according to U.S. Atty. Peter Dorsey. He said the indictment primarily deleted reference to a minor in the first indictment and added four charges related to destructive devices.

The ten face federal bombing conspiracy charges from the initial indictment.

In addition federal prosecutors issued summonses requiring seven of the suspects to appear in New Haven May 19 to enter pleas in connection with the explosion and fire that destroyed a portion of the Sponge Rubber Products Co.

New information included in the document indicates that Ronald Betres, Albert R. Coffey and Anthony Just allegedly abducted three plant employees shortly before the sprawling complex on the Housatonic River erupted in flames.

Charles Moeller, the president of the parent company, and his spiritual advisor, psychic minister David N. Bubar, were among the ten men charged. All but Coffey, who was still at large Thursday night, have been arrested and are free on bond.

Two of the men have pleaded innocent.

Sam and Edna Wheeler

Like 30,000 other satisfied families, your neighbor chose to save thousands by building a Ridge Finish-It-Yourself House. And here's how Ridge helped:

QUALITY CONSTRUCTION. Ridge does the hard work, you do the interior finishing. We don't compromise on quality. And you'll find nationally known brand names on all our appliances and materials.

FINISHING YOUR HOME. The more work you do, the more money you save. Ridge provides you with all the interior materials and the step-by-step instructions for you to finish the interior yourself.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Well, Jerry has been home from the hospital for over a week and the old McGaffney homestead is rapidly rounding back into shape after a four month absence on the part of the head of the clan.

The little bundle of dynamite has everything under control and no longer has any use for her crutches to get around. A little more rest and the addition of a few pounds and the sex symbol of S. Scioto St. will once again be hitting the pavement on Main St.

Mrs. Kelly couldn't be happier. She has relinquished her household duties and no longer has to prepare the meals — It's just as well as we were getting a little tired of boiled Gaines Burgers and dry dog biscuits.

We just can't say enough about the wonderful care and attention she received from the staff in the intensive care unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital West. They are just great and not only pulled her through the crisis but provided us with a Valentines Day that we will never forget.

And we were blessed with a pair of fine doctors at Mt. Carmel in Dr. Michael Anthony and Dr. Michael Cooney, who we feel probably saved her life.

She went into Mt. Carmel the first part of January, and although we just can't say enough wonderful things about them, when we had Jerry transferred back to Berger Hospital it was "coming home" for us.

We also received the finest care and treatment at Berger and the nurses and nurses aides treated Jerry like a queen. They did everything possible to make her comfortable and to keep her spirits up.

The physical therapists, Mr. Diehl and Mr. Rare, from the Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe, were great and did some marvelous work with her and we are happy to say have restored all of her muscles.

But we just couldn't believe the concern and care shown by the marvelous people of Circleville and Pickaway County. Cards and flowers flowed into the hospital daily and we will always be grateful for this and all the prayers that were said for her.

We certainly didn't make any mistake when we left Youngstown eight years ago to cast our lot with a wonderful community and some of the finest people in the world.

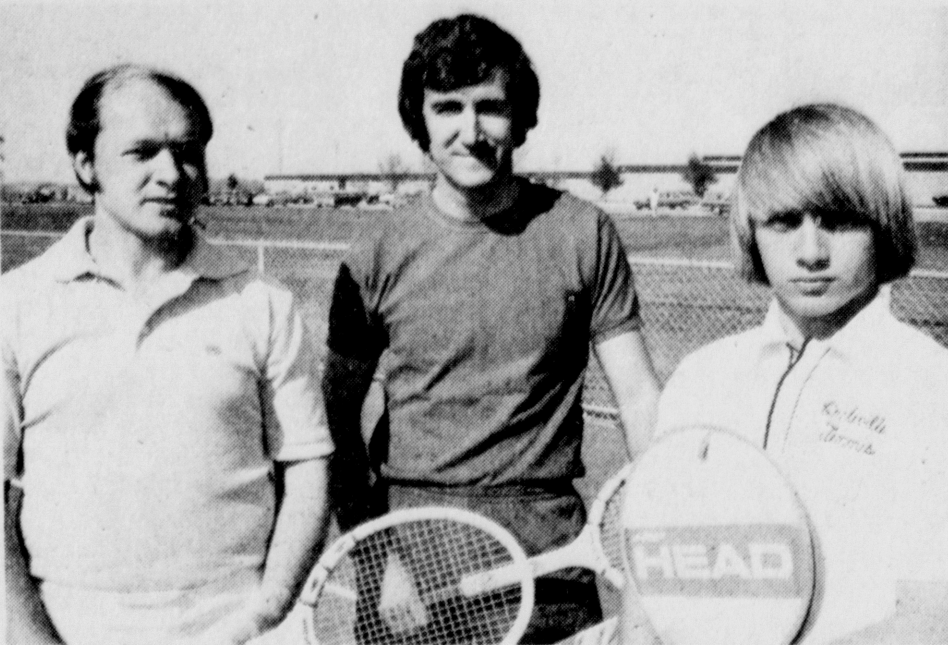

Someone said that we have had a bad year but this isn't true — In all reality it has been a good year — We both came down with a very serious illness and both fully recovered — Believe us that has to make it a good year.

We would also like to tell people what a great job our own doctor did for us but he gets mad at us when we say it. So this Irish Mick will be a little Coy and just say he always Bobs up when we need him. I guess that is 'Neff said so we'll just Dot things out.

We will never forget all of the many acts of kindness that we were shown and can only say God Bless All Of You. May you always walk with the wind at your backs.

Our "fearless" forecast — From what we saw it looks like Crenshaw who will say "Hee Haw" in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

NET MEN—Jerry Kelly (left) and David Crawford (right) discuss local YMCA 1975 tennis tournament plans with Dan Campbell, Circleville High School tennis coach. Divisions in the tournament will be: men and boys, 13 and up, singles for beginners and intermediates; men's singles, advanced; men and boys doubles, beginners and intermediates; men's doubles, advanced; and women and girls, 13 and up, singles. Rules and application forms can be obtained at the YMCA and deadline for all registrations will be May 29. A very small registration fee will be charged.

Scioto Downs Prepares For Season Opening

Scioto Downs begins its seventeenth year May 16th. In previewing the upcoming season, Scioto Downs president, Charles D. Hill, stated, "we are opening our 17th year with the finest array of racing stables we have ever had. Every top stable, and almost every top trotter and pacer in the sport is scheduled to appear at our track sometime during the 100-night meeting."

Herman Brickel, Scioto's newly appointed Director of Racing, echoes Charlie Hill's statement. In addition to 1974 leading drivers, Dick Williams and Dick Farrington, the racing colony this year includes Hall of Fame members Joe O'Brien, Howard Beissinger, and the Curly Smart stable with grandson Rick Midden in charge.

Correction In City Junior Pin Game

Celtics Face Elimination In Playoffs

BOSTON (AP) — Less than two weeks ago, a couple of members of the Boston Celtics remarked it was "like looking at yourself in a mirror" when they played the Washington Bullets.

They didn't realize it at the time, but so far everything indicates they were thinking of crazy fun-house mirrors.

The Bullets, coached by former Celtic great K.C. Jones, have shown the ability and poise of Boston's great teams of the past. Now they have the mighty defending champion Celtics on the brink of elimination in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Washington, leading 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, seeks to wrap up the Eastern Conference championship and oust Boston tonight at the Garden. A victory will send the Bullets into the title round against the winner of the Golden State Chicago playoff in the Western Conference, which the Bulls lead 3-2 after an 89-79 victory Thursday night.

Since rallying from a 12-point deficit to win the opening game 100-95, the Bullets have looked the better team, employing old Celtics plays learned by Jones and employing new patterns. Washington won the second game 117-92, Boston took the third 101-90 and the Bullets romped 119-108 Wednesday night in Landover, Md.

Tiger Girls Win Contest

Circleville's girls softball team traveled to Hillsboro Thursday and downed the Indians, 15-4, for the Tigers third win of the season.

Sue Crist hurled the win for the Tigers. Circleville broke the game open with six runs in the fourth inning. The Tigers also had their first double play of the season when Wanda Boyd and Sue Radcliff came up with a second to first twin killing.

Hitting for Circleville were: Wanda Boyd, two doubles and two singles; Julie Johnson, two singles and two doubles; Sue Radcliff, three singles; Darla Hughes, triple and single; Linda Holveck, single; Cindy Tucker, four singles; Cindy Dayhoff, two doubles and a single; Sue Stevenson, Single; Sue Crist, two singles; Kathy Morehart, double and single.

Circleville (3-7) will be at Washington C. H. Tuesday.

Sports Loses Great In Avery Brundage

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports has lost a great champion in the death of Avery Brundage.

Critics reviled him. They called him a tyrant. They said he was stiff-necked and old-fashioned. They accused him of being unrealistic in his unflagging battle to keep high the ideals of pure amateurism.

In a way, he was all of these things. He was an anachronism in an age of rampant commercialism, the huckster and the fast-buck.

But if it hadn't been for Avery Brundage, the Olympic Games might have been reduced to rubble decades ago.

Whatever the Olympics are—whatever dignity they have maintained under the intense pressures of super-nationalism, slick wheelers and dealers, athletes seeking to turn gold medals into personal fortunes—they owe to the tough old codger from Chicago.

He was an imposing figure of a man—tall, straight as a poker, wearing the muscled physique of an athlete who competed in the same Olympics with the great Jim Thorpe.

Even in his 80s, he walked with a strong, crisp step, his chin usually thrust forward as if daring his enemies to take a swing at it, his shoulders always back.

He talked with a booming, authoritative voice. When he spoke, people listened. Many feared him. Most were in awe of him.

As president of the International Olympic Committee, he hob-nobbed with princes and potentates, presidents and kings.

In royal company, Avery Brundage had a way of standing out as the most regal of them all.

To him, the Olympics were something that came down from the gods—down from Mt. Olympus.

The Games were not legislated. They were ordained. They were beholden to nobody. In Brundage's mind, they were above politics, personal greed and national pride.

That's the reason the old man was always on the griddle.

He was criticized for not taking a strong stand against the Soviet Union's policy of subsidizing athletes. There are no professionals in Russia, but every athlete, in effect, is a pro—pampered and paid by the state.

"In the Soviet Union," Brundage said, "everybody is subservient to the state. It is the system. But I see no greater fault in that than the American practice of subsidizing athletes through college scholarships."

Lima Man Aims At Formula Racing

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Lack of a sponsor will keep Robert LaWarre Sr.'s novel car from another crack at auto racing's big boys in the Indianapolis 500 this year.

So the Lima, Ohio, business executive is pointing his stock block-powered machine toward Formula 5000 road racing with John Hubbard driving.

"We'll enter as many Formula 5000 and USAC championship races as possible," said the president of Precision Metalcraft Corp. "With more horsepower and better fuel consumption—Hubbard claims 3.2 miles per gallon—I think we'll show 'em a thing or two before the season is over."

LaWarre's 1968 Eagle, however, never had a chance for a starting position in the 500 last spring. Time ran out before rookie driver Larry Rice could get in four qualifying laps.

"When we showed up at Indianapolis last year, a lot of people thought we were some kind of joke. But it didn't take them long to realize we were for real."

"My car passed technical inspection in less than four hours and, believe me, they looked extra hard to find something wrong."

"The car was built for road racing by Dan Gurney back in 1968. Mark Donohue drove it for three years in Formula A. Later Arnie Knepper tried twice to qualify at Indy but failed both times."

He bought the car for salvage two years ago. Then he changed his mind and completely rebuilt the car's suspension system and redesigned the power plant with a stock block engine.

"The engine is just as competitive as the four-cylinder, turbocharged Offy. Without giving away any secrets, my stock block can generate 700 horsepower," said LaWarre.

In fact, the Ohioan envisions the stock block engine as the engine of the future for the 500.

"Who has $30,000 just to buy an Offy?" asked LaWarre. "It shouldn't cost more than $8,000 for a stock block."

"You put a bunch of 355 cubic inch stock blocks at Indy and you'll see a competitive show, not what auto racing has become in recent years... one car leaving everybody."

"I thought USAC would change its rules this year instead of waiting until 1976 or 1977 to open the door for stock blocks. I know of at least 10 guys who would have entered this year at Indy," claimed LaWarre.

The 55-year-old Findlay, Ohio, native drove a sprinter when he was 18 around the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan circuit. He started building engines a year later.

LaWarre went from the midgets to super modifieds, sprinters and finally championship cars.

Sabres Win NHL Playoff With Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Coach Scotty Bowman of the Montreal Canadiens quietly peeled a tab off a soft drink can in the Montreal dressing room Thursday night.

"Buffalo played a very fine second period. That fourth goal (by Jim Lorentz in the second period) gave them a big lift. It was eventually the winning goal."

The Canadiens, who won 7-0 and 8-2 on Forum ice earlier in the series, started off with a furious offensive assault, but only Peter Mahovich found the range against Buffalo net-minder Gerry Desjardins in the opening period.

Meanwhile, Craig Ramsay, Rick Martin and Pete McNab scored for Buffalo in the opening session with Ramsay's goal at 2:07 coming with the Sabres shorthanded. Lorentz got the lone goal of the second period with Guy Lafleur and Mahovich scoring for Montreal in the third.

Former American League pitcher Bill Kunkel umpires in the American League. He formerly pitched in Kansas City and with the New York Yankees.

Davis Argues, Boosts Rangers To Victory

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

What's a few words between friends?

That's the way Texas Rangers centerfielder Willie Davis feels about his shouting match with Manager Billy Martin earlier this week—let bygones be bygones.

"I love Billy, we're great friends," says Davis. "Arguments clear the air. Out of arguments comes the best understanding."

And Martin? He's happy, too, as long as Davis hits the way he did Thursday night.

Davis rapped out four hits against Kansas City, including a two-run homer which tied the game and a ninth-inning single which knocked in the go-ahead run in the Rangers' 5-3 victory over the Royals.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blanked the Oakland A's 5-0 and the Detroit Tigers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 6-4.

The shouting match between Martin and Davis took place Wednesday night, when Martin kept the lockerroom door closed for about 15 minutes following a 6-5 loss to the Royals.

One player said later that at the meeting Martin cited a number of "stupid errors," including Davis' attempt to stretch a double into a triple in the fifth inning. He was thrown out, killing a rally.

Davis apparently said something, because reporters outside the door heard Martin yell, "I'm doing the talking here." Shouts and curses ensued, with Martin finally hollering, "That's the way things are going to be, and if you don't like it then get out of here." More shouts and yells followed.

When reporters were finally admitted, everyone was mum.

Some 24 hours later, it was a different story. Happiness prevailed.

"I plan the next day in advance," said Davis after his four-hit effort. "I started planning this one last night. If it comes off, I'm happy. If it doesn't, I'm still happy. I'm always happy."

He denied the shouting match inspired his big day.

"I'm motivated all the time," he said. "Last night is gone and past. I love Billy. We've known each other for many years. We've partied together. You can't throw all that away over a few words."

And Martin kept up his end, saying Davis "is playing his heart out. I don't single out players at a meeting. I didn't say a word to him. I had something to say to the players. I've done it before."

Davis' third home run of the season, with Jim Sundberg aboard, erased a 3-1 Kansas City lead in the seventh inning. Two innings later the Rangers broke the tie on one-out singles by Cesar Tovar, Len Randle and Davis.

Jeff Burroughs then laced a double to right-center, scoring Randle to make it 5-3.

Angels 5, A's 0

Nolan Ryan blanked Oakland on four singles and struck out 10 in raising his record to 6-1 and becoming only the third pitcher in the majors to win six games this season, joining Vida Blue of

Oakland and Don Sutton of Los Angeles.

Mickey Rivers was the batting star for the Angels with a run-scoring single and a two-run triple.

Tigers 6, Brewers 4

Rookie Dan Meyer blasted the first pitch in the bottom of sixth inning for his second home run of the season, snapping a 4-4 tie. The Tigers got another run in the inning when Leon

Roberts walked, stole second, took third on a throwing error by Darrell Porter and scored on an infield out.

Relief pitcher Ray Bare got the victory, with a big save to John Hiller, who stopped the Brewers cold. Over the last three innings he allowed just one hit and one walk while striking out seven, including six in a row—one short of the major league record for relievers.

Logan City School Problems Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Education Association reports it has found that problems in the Logan City School District stem from inadequate financing, a breakdown in the negotiation process and citizen resentment of school consolidations.

The five-member panel conducted a four-day study of the district at the direction of the OEA Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission and request of the Logan Education Association.

The educators interviewed students, nonteaching staff, teachers and administrators.

The report noted that no significant change has occurred in the negotiations process since the OEA imposed professional sanctions on the district in 1971.

It said lack of adequate financing has tended to keep the district at, and in some cases below, the state's minimum standards.

Another key problem, the report said, stems from a nearly countywide consolidation of school districts which resulted in the only city school district in the state that embraces almost an entire county.

It some citizens feel that the city school district took control of previously autonomous districts throughout the county.

The panel recommended that:

—The Logan Board of Education review its attitude and procedure toward professional negotiations with teachers.

—Voters approve a proposed five-mill operating levy in the June election.

—Citizens "lay aside their resentment over the loss of their former school structure and think and act in terms of the district as it now exists."

—The district cease the practice of using money from the general fund to remodel and build additions to existing facilities.

CELINA, Ohio (AP) — Net income for Celina Financial Corp. dipped slightly for the first quarter as compared with the same period last year, but earnings per share remained at 60 cents, company officials reported Thursday.

First quarter revenues were $3.04 million and net income was $279,341, compared with revenues of $2.40 million and net income of $282,099 for last year's first quarter.

Reduced earnings due Ohio Reinsurance, a subsidiary, contributed to the corporation's showing, officials said.

Plescica Leads Track Team To 6th SCOL Championship

By JEFF BOHENKO

Frank Plescica led the Circleville High School track team to their sixth straight SCOL championship at the league meet at Unioto April 29.

Plescica swept four events in the meet, which is an unprecedented accomplishment by a CHS track athlete. He won the high jump with a leap of six feet, placed first in the long jump by sailing 21 feet 2 inches, sprinted through the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.6 seconds, and breezed through the 180 yard low hurdles in 20.1 seconds.

FRANK PLESCICA

Plescica stated, "I was quite pleased that our team was able to win the league. Coach Jim Lint and everyone on the team has worked hard all year."

Plescica holds many CHS records in track, both as an individual and as a team member.

His records are as follows: individual records-high jump, 6 feet 3 inches; triple jump, 42 feet 8 inches; 330 low hurdles, 41.6 seconds; and pentathlon, 3,242 points; two-man records-high jump, 12 feet; three-man records: high jump, 17 feet 8 inches; triple jump, 116 feet 2 inches; shuttle hurdle relay, 57.3 seconds; and 440 relay, 46.4 seconds.

Along with these impressive records, Plescica also attained recognition by placing first in the District Pentathlon with 3,223 points. He went on to finish fifth in the state with a school record 3,242 points.

In his high school career Plescica ran track and cross country as a sophomore and played basketball. He participated in these same three sports as a junior; as a senior, he played football, and he is presently involved with track.

When asked his feelings about his involvement in sports at CHS, he replied, "I've always enjoyed sports in spite of the many long hours involved. I try to condition myself by staying active and working out year round." He commented about the coaching at CHS, "Perhaps one of the reasons why I've done so well in track is due to a great deal of respect for Mr. Lint. He's always been willing to help me and the other men on the team."

Although he is quite involved with sports and Student Council, Plescica finds time for hunting, fishing, and all other sports. He plans to attend Bowling Green State University this fall, where he hopes to run track and major in mathematics.

He resides at 240 Edwards Road with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Plescica, his brothers Mark and Kris, and his sister Marcia.

DECA Members Receive Special Recognition

By CAROL DeMINT

Nine senior DECA members received recognition for their special efforts throughout both their junior and senior years at the 1974-75 annual DECA Employer-Employee Appreciation Banquet April 24 at the L-K Restaurant.

Sharon Snyder received the student-of-the-year award, which is the highest award any Distributive Education Student can achieve. Sharon's name is engraved on a plaque, which was presented to the club by the Sears Foundation in 1965. Besides being an outstanding club president both her junior and senior years, Sharon has achieved many personal goals in the DECA Club. Some of her accomplishments are District Miss Ohio DECA, senior year; first in district display contest, junior year; first in job interview girl in district contest, senior year; second runner-up in job interview in state contest, senior year.

Sharon commented that she was very surprised and happy to receive such an award. Receiving the coordinators awards were Beth Blaney, Pam Hawley, Darrell McCoy, and Randy Young. The coordinators feel these students helped them the most throughout their junior and senior years. "They were always willing to sacrifice their time when we needed anything done," commented coordinators Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood and Bill Rosengarten.

A very important part of the DE program is on-the-job training. Bonnie Arledge and Dave Rossiter were given the job improvement awards. According to the coordinators, these students have learned their jobs quickly and performed them well.

Top sales person award was presented to Cindy Moore, who sold the most club products during her junior and senior years.

The most improved student award was given to Ron Huffer, employed at Ward's Cardinal Market. The coordinators based their decision upon Ron's capability to improve in all three areas of the program—in class, on-the-job, and in club activities.

"I feel that many students deserve awards for just being the outstanding people they are, and I'm sure this class will be successful in all their future attempts," said Rosengarten.

Mrs. Greenwood commented, "I'm very proud of all these students, and if they continue to do as well with their future lives and career goals, the class of 1975 will always be known as an energetic group of DE students."

Classes Discuss Death

By LOWELL HUNTER

Richard Billman's psychology and sociology classes held a seminar last week on death and dying.

Speakers and their topic areas were Allan Berger, legal aspects of death; Doctor F. W. Anderson, medical aspects of death; the Reverend David Frazer, religious aspects of death; and Chuck Wellman, funerals.

Berger stressed wills and the disposition of property after death both with and without a will. He also gave the legal definition of death.

The different ways an individual according to his age group might react to the thought of imminent death was one subject that Anderson touched upon along with the medical determination of death.

Wellman presented a film on death which showed actual death situations and showed different view points and attitudes about death.

Death is an integral part of life, said Reverend Frazer, and we must have a solid ground for ourselves about death.

Two other seminars have been scheduled. Those topics are mental illness and retardation and the social agencies available for use.

Guidance Guidelines

A career day program for sophomores and juniors is being planned by the guidance staff and the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce. Consultants from the community will make presentations in 14 areas in the program scheduled for the afternoon of May 28. The career areas being used are based on the US Department of Labor's career clusters, which group occupations according to the type of work which is performed.

The career areas to be included in this program are industrial production, office occupations, service occupations, education occupations, sales occupations, construction occupations, transportation occupations, scientific and technical occupations, mechanics and repairmen, health occupations, social scientists and social service occupations, art, design, and communications, agricultural occupations, and a general employment skills area.

Deadlines for registration for the June administrations of the ACT and SAT are: ACT - May 19; and SAT - May 15.

Kelly Spence's extra curricular activities include Student Council, sophomore class treasurer, and English Merit Society. She stated "I'm really thrilled about being chosen a varsity cheerleader. I can't wait until next year." In her spare time Kelly enjoys cheering, playing the piano, baking, and going to baseball games.

By CATHY ROUTT

A new teacher at Corwin Street Elementary School is Mrs. Marsha Kowalski. Mrs. Kowalski and her family were transferred here from Bethesda, Md. She resides at 2050 Chippewa Drive with her husband and daughter, Pam.

Mrs. Kowalski attended Virginia Commonwealth University, where she majored in elementary education. About today's youth she stated, "They have a great deal more freedom than they did ten years ago and are more mature in some ways too."

Mrs. Kowalski listed sewing, crafts and bicycling as some of her favorite activities. She is a member of the Circleville Junior Women's Club and the Child Development League.

The new teacher hopes to continue teaching next year in the Circleville School System.

The greatest single item in the world's water budget, aside from the world ocean itself, is the Antarctic ice sheet. If melted at a suitable uniform rate it could feed the Mississippi's flow for 50,000 years.

Circleville Board Revises Policy On Extra-Curricular Activities

The Circleville Board of Education adopted a new policy Thursday night regarding the extra-curricular activities. The board has been criticized in the past because of its policy to suspend students from athletic activity for 40 days after they have been suspended from school.

With the new policy, the mandatory suspension from such activity will still be in force but it will be a lesser penalty for first offenders and will include other activities as well.

The new policy divides the school activities into uniform and non-uniform groups and establishes two activities boards as well as an athletic board. Guidelines for the establishment of these boards and membership is detailed in the board's revised policy.

A first offense of suspension from school will result in ten school days suspension from all extra-curricular activities except as a spectator or when admission is paid. A second suspension from school will result in a 60-day suspension from all extra-curricular activities.

A member will be prohibited from participation in such activities for a minimum period of 90 days for the following offenses: theft or accomplice in theft; use of possession of drugs or alcohol; rioting; assault; any felony.

The revised policy was made by a committee including two board members, members of the teaching staff and administrative staff of the school district. A lengthy discussion and a few more revisions preceded the adoption of the policy at the regular board meeting Thursday.

In other action, the board adopted 17 new textbooks for the 1975-76 school year.

Resignations were accepted from elementary teachers Kerrylin Hopewell and Julia Moore. John Lawhorn resigned as baseball coach and Carol Parker as cheerleader advisor.

The board employed the following: Sue Ann Bennett for an elementary position; Brenda Southward for an elementary position; Lisa Rihl, for an elementary position; Paul King as the high school instrumental music director.

All three women hired hold bachelor of science degrees from Ohio University. Ms. Southward has two years experience and the other two are beginning teachers.

King has five years training and holds a bachelor of music degree from Youngstown State University and has three years experience in the Beaver Local School District in Columbiana County.

Thomas Mounts was approved as a substitute custodian effective immediately and Bonnie Morrison was employed as needed as a part-time secretary in the child accountant's office.

For extra-curricular assignments, Paula Woodward was approved as assistant annual advisor and also as American Field Service Advisor for the high school. King was employed as stage band and band director.

Additions to the extra-curricular activities were made. The math club paying $165 was established with Janet Martin as its advisor. Dolores Julian was approved as the art club, another new club, advisor at the rate of $165. The American Field Service Advisorship was also an addition at the rate of $165.

The establishment of a Varsity C. Club will take the place of the former Stogie Club and the supplemental income for the advisor was approved at $200. No advisor has been assigned that position. Superintendent Fritz Jacobs told the board that the new club would be open to both boys and girls who had earned a varsity letter.

Along these same lines, the board voted to rescind an existing policy regulating the number of clubs in which any one student can participate. The new policy was adopted on a trial basis.

Dennis Stewart, Dave Angles, Don Poling and Ron Malone were approved as driver education instructors for the summer. Approximately 20 students will be assigned to each with approximately 160 hours of work each. The hourly rate was established at $6.50.

Four staff members were approved for extended service during the summer and four maintenance staff members were given supplemental contracts.

The board was advised that during the last meeting when the recommendations were made for multi-year contracts, the names of Floreen Heeter and Jerri Rapp were inadvertently omitted. Both were given two-year contracts. Thomas Cole, who filed additional training for 150 semester hours, was adjusted on the salary schedule accordingly.

Draperies, to be purchased by the Atwater Parent Teacher Boosters, were approved by the board. The cost from the Janson Industries of Canton was $988.

Painting bids for three of the district's school buildings were approved to be done by Chester Hill for a total of $1,840.

Remodeling of the principal's office at Atwater School was approved. The work is to be done by J. Boyd Stout Company for $692.

Insurance for teachers, students, non-teaching personnel and football players was approved to be offered by the Hummel and Plum Agency. Hummel and Plum were also approved for the renewal of the driver education car insurance.

In routine business, the board approved early dismissal on the last day of school, established a new activity account, and approved attendance of four staff members to professional meetings.

The superintendent was authorized to proceed with the Title I project for fiscal year 1976 with funds designated for the remedial reading program. The Title III participation for fiscal year 1975 was approved in the amount of $6660. The funds were designated for library improvement.

Mrs. Winifred Brengle and Mrs. Pauline Woodward spoke at the board meeting on their recent trips abroad with several students from the French and Latin Classes. Both teachers commended the students on their behavior and enthusiasm and thanked the board for making the initial approval to allow the two groups to go.

Mrs. Brengle and three other adults took 12 students to Italy. She told of the highlights of the trip which began with a tour of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Woodward and her aunt took 17 students to France.

A discussion was also held during the meeting on the American Field Service and the student the group is sponsoring to come to this community. The board appointed Mrs. Woodward as school advisor to the group because she was herself a student in France in the same program.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie will be the American parents to the boy who is coming here.

Mrs. Woodward and Mrs. Bowers explained the program to the board and advised that it was the largest and best organized group of its kind.

The student is really community-sponsored and attends school just as any other student. Foreign students do not get credit for the year spent here but rather has to either finish his high school or begin his college year when he returns to his native country.

The local AFS chapter has 12 active members and Bob Phillips is the liaison between the American family and the student.

The board meeting was adjourned until noon on May 28 at which time the summer school employment and classes will be considered.

Arrest Made In Tavern Break-In

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff filed charges of disposing stolen property against Allen Keith Sutton of New Holland and petit theft and breaking and entering against a 17-year-old New Holland youth involved in the break-in at Dutch's Tavern in that village.

In the offense report taken by Detective Don Thompson, the youth entered the tavern, located on Main Street in New Holland, sometime between May 4 and 6 taking antique tools, pistol, pocket knives, watch and change.

Sutton is presently appearing under a pre-sentence report for breaking and entering at a laundry in New Holland.

The items, valued at $115, were recovered excluding some of the money.

The Public Investigator

The Investigator questioned utility companies in the Circleville and Pickaway County area concerning monetary increases to consumers of their specific product and the reason for the price increase. Here are answers furnished by the General Telephone Company of Ohio.

(Q) Approximately how many customers does General Telephone Company of Ohio service in Circleville and Pickaway County?

(A) According to the latest information available, we serve 7,395 customers in the Circleville exchange, 2,192 in Ashville, and 503 in Williamsport. The total is 10,090.

(Q) What are your present rates to individuals and how much have the rates increased in the past year? Six months? Three months?

(A) General Telephone exchanges in Circleville, Ashville, and Williamsport follow the Class III rate schedule for exchanges with 6,001 to 12,000 main stations. The current rates became effective Feb. 10, 1975. The only recent increase previous to that time was November, 1971.

Current rates for residential subscribers and the dollar amount of increase are: one party - $10.40, an increase of $2.50; two party - $9.40, an increase of $2.30; four party - $8.50, an increase of $2.30; multi party - $8.80, an increase of $2.35. Current rates for business phones and the dollar increase are: one party - $20.90, an increase of $5.75; two party - $18.75, an increase of $5.25; multi party - $17.95, an increase of $5.15. The rate changes are for monthly service and do not include long distance charges, which are extra.

(Q) Do you have any "extra" charges such as installation costs or deposits?

(A) Yes. There is a one-time charge for installation of new service ($25 for residential and $30 for business); a one-time charge for installation of an extension if done at a time other than initial installation ($15 for residential and business) and a service reconnection charge (if cut for non-payment) of $15 for residential and business customers.

A deposit is required for new customers who do not have a good established credit rating. The amount required is up to the discretion of the local office.

(Q) Why is there a raise in the cost to consumers? Do you expect to reach any ceiling in the selling price?

(A) Utilities face the same economic pressures as any other business. Inflation, the higher cost of labor, rising taxes, materials and virtually everything we use have increased considerably. As a telephone company, we cannot raise our rates at will to adjust to the increases experienced.

We must wait more than two years to get an increase approved by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

We are a victim of inflation, not a cause of it.

A further economic pressure introduced in recent years involves interconnection. This means non-telephone company firms can sell switchboards and equipment to business establishments. As a result, some of our prime customers are switching to interconnection facilities. Because interconnection companies are not regulated, as we are, they are not subject to the same regulations. They can limit their sales efforts to just lucrative accounts and ignore any others.

In our case, we are required by law to provide service to any and all who request it within our operating territory regardless of cost to us. The consequence likely will be higher rates for our customers.

As long as inflation remains and other costs of doing business increase, no ceiling will be reached.

(Q) What are your different payment plans and which one is the most popular with consumers in the area?

(A) We have no payment plans other than full amount due monthly. Telephone bills usually are of a size that payment plans are impractical.

(Q) Are you aware of any federal or state legislation to lower the rates of persons on fixed incomes? Does your company see any need for such legislation?

(A) HB 154, sponsored by C. J. McLin of Dayton, was introduced last January 23. It proposes a reduction in rates for persons aged 62 and over. The bill has been referred to committee.

The need for such legislation is questionable. In our opinion, it is socialist in nature. If it were to be enacted, revenues lost would have to be made up somewhere else.

This means that persons under 62 would pay more to take up the slack.

(Q) Who may consumers contact with questions concerning billing procedures?

(A) William D. Anderson at 474-3171. He is the Circleville Customer Service Manager.
